WILSON LANDS; RECEIVES TUMULTUOUS OVATION

Sun Breaks Through Clouds When His Ship Comes Into Harbor of Brest

SAYS BERLIN AGENT TOLD OF HINT OF WAR IN JULY, 1914

U. S. Investigator Tells Senators' Man Now Interned Informed Him of German Government's Forecast.

130 PROPAGANDISTS SENT OUT, HE SAID

Capt. G. B. Lester Also Declares President Wilson Caused Change in Hearst Film, "Patria."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Capt. G. B. Lester of the Army Intelligence Service today testified before the Senate Committee investigating German and brewers' propaganda, that an unnamed informant, now interned in this country, told him that the German Government on July 10, 1914, informed about 130 German civilian employees at a conference in Berlin that a world war would be started soon.

According to the informant, these employees then were dispatched to all parts of the world, 31 coming to the United States, to stimulate pan-German propaganda, Lester declared.

The German propagandists landed in the United States in August, 1914, on the same boat with Dr. H. P. Albert, known as the paymaster of the enemy propaganda system in this country, and immediately formed the nucleus for German propaganda.

Film Cited as Propaganda.

Capt. Lester said that, as a result of a request by President Wilson at a personal interview with William Randolph Hearst, charges were made in the film play "Patria" (a Hearst film production, with Mrs. Verpon Cagle as the star), produced serially in the United States early in 1917, picturing Japan and Mexico in an alliance against the United States. The witness cited this film as one bearing earmarks of German propaganda.

These propagandists were chosen by the German Government, Lester testified, because of their knowledge of foreign languages, their ability to write and their knowledge of legal and public matters in general.

The army officer explained that he did not feel justified in giving the name of his informant on the ground that this man might wish to return to Germany after being released from internment.

Propaganda Begun in 1894.

German propaganda was started by Germany in 1894 as a means of carrying German ideas to every country in the world, Lester told the committee. This propaganda, he said, was to be carried to South and Central America, Japan and China and to the United States.

Testimony that Edward Lyell Fox, a writer, was sent to Germany in 1915 by the German embassy to write German propaganda which was distributed by the Hearst International News Service, was also presented to the Senate committee.

In response to questions Lester said there is nothing in the army intelligence records showing whether either Hearst or managers of the International News Service knew that Fox was in the pay of the German Government.

The witness read a telegram sent from the German embassy in Washington to the German Foreign Office Sept. 9, 1914, saying:

"Chicago Tribune friendly paper."

Lester said that Fox confessed to him that while in Germany he had written anything he was told to write by the German publicity bureau at Berlin.

The witness said he obtained from Fox an admission that an article appearing in the New York American on Sept. 18, 1913, dealing with alleged atrocities by Russian Cossacks was written by him under instructions from German officers as a means of offsetting the stories of German atrocities in Belgium that had begun to come out about that time.

"I obtained from Fox his original notes, written in lead pencil, on the Cossack story," Lester said, "and he admitted he never saw any of the stories referred to and that to his knowledge none of them ever were committed. He was given courtesies from German officers that no

Holiday Proclaimed for Berlin Jan. 1 to Celebrate Revolution

AMSTERDAM, Thursday, Dec. 12.—Jan. 1 has been fixed as a day of general rejoicing in Berlin in honor of the revolution, according to the Zeitung Am Mittag of Berlin. The announcement fixing the day was issued by the Ebert Government. The occasion will be marked by an open-air carnival, concerts and processions.

5 CONVERSATIONS NOW POSSIBLE OVER SAME PAIR OF WIRES

President of American Telephone and Telegraph Co. Announces New Transmission Invention.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Postmaster-General Durland has made public a letter from Theodore N. Vail, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., announcing the invention and development by the technical staff of the Bell system of "a practical system of multiplex telephony and telegraphy by the use of which it is now possible to increase many fold the message-carrying capacity of long telephone and telegraph wires."

With this new system," said Vail's letter, "four telephone conversations over one pair of wires are simultaneously carried on, in addition to the telephone conversation provided by the ordinary methods. Thus over a single pair of wires a total of five telephone conversations are simultaneously carried on, each giving service as good as that provided by the circuit working in the ordinary way."

BRITISH LABOR ASSURES WILSON SUPPORT IN 'COMING EFFORTS'

Secretaries of Union Congress and Labor Party Send Message on Behalf of 5,000,000 Workers.

LONDON, Thursday, Dec. 12.—Charles W. Bowerman, secretary of the Trades Union Congress, and Arthur Henderson, secretary of the Labor party, have signed a message "on behalf of 5,000,000 workers" to President Wilson, associating themselves with their "French comrades" in welcoming President Wilson to Europe and assuring him of the "support of British Labor in his coming efforts to realize his lofty ideals."

The message has been forwarded to the American embassy in Paris.

ASPHALT LAID ON FREE BRIDGE

Bad Drainage Made Wooden Block Surface Uneven, Says Talbert.

Wooden blocks on the river spans of the Free Bridge are being replaced with asphalt. The area covers 26,739 square feet and the work will cost approximately $4000 or $5000.

Director of Streets and Sewers Talbert said that as the block paving provided no drainage facilities the accumulation of water forced the blocks upward and destroyed the even surface. He pointed out that in the past six months $2350.29 had been paid by the city for labor and materials in keeping the roadway in condition.

SUBPOENAS FOR U. S. WITNESSES IN WEEKE CASE

Naturalization Hearing of Pershing's Report for Yesterday Says No Progress Was Made During Day—River Reached Tuesday.

BEVINGTON WILL CONTEST APPLICATION

Attachments Asked for Four Government Witnesses Who Caused Postponement of Today's Proceedings.

After the naturalization case of Henry L. (Hank) Weeke, former Commissioner of Weights and Measures, had been continued to next Monday, deputy marshals in the United States District Court today, served subpoenas on witnesses for the Government to appear before the Federal grand jury when it convenes, Jan. 13.

It became known that at that time the naturalization of officers planned to submit to the grand jury the affidavits which accompanied Weeke's application for citizenship. These were affidavits in support of Weeke's statement that he was a man of good character, and, therefore, entitled to naturalization. They were signed by Nat Goldstein, Circuit Clerk, and Charles F. Joy, Recorder of Deeds.

The summoning of the Government's witnesses provoked the filing of any evidence in court in connection with the Weeke case and whether or not the witnesses will actually be taken before the grand jury will depend on the nature of the evidence at the court hearing.

Bevington at Work.

It is known that M. R. Bevington, chief naturalization examiner, has been collecting testimony as to Weeke's personal habits and reputation. He is expected to appear before the grand jury in his own defense.

Uttering a false statement in a character affidavit in connection with an application for citizenship is a felony, the penalty being five years' imprisonment, or a fine of $1000, or both.

The hearing in the Weeke case was set for 11 a. m. today. When it was called Bevington asked for a poll of the Government witnesses, numbering about 20. A roll call showed four witnesses were absent. They were: Frances Cole, 715 North Leonard; Frank A. O'Brien, 415 Olive street; Lee O'Connell, 1011 North Broadway; and M. V. Jones, 4234 Manchester avenue.

Attachments to Witnesses.

Bevington told the court these were all material witnesses and he could not properly present the Government's case without them. He asked that attachments be issued for them.

Judge Dyer said it would not be.

U. S. ARMY GOING INTO GERMANY STANDS ON RHINE

Attitude of Population Is Shown in Vaguely Concealed Smiles and Sneers.

PEOPLE OF COBLENZ JOSTLE OUR MEN

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The American army marching into Germany has come to a stand on the Rhine. Gen. Pershing's report for yesterday says there was no advance during the day.

The communique follows: "On the front of the American Third Army there was no advance during the day. The army sector has been shortened, and now extends along the west bank of the Rhine from Rolandseck to Brey."

A belated report for Wednesday, received today, says: "Unit of the Third American Army, which yesterday on the line Andernach-Basseheim-Boppard today advanced to the Rhine and occupied the important city of Coblenz. At nightfall our troops were along the west bank of the river from Rolandseck south of Bonn to Trechtlinghausen."

Coblenz, by courier to Nancy, Tuesday, Dec. 10.—Sentries of the American and German armies face each other across the Rhine tonight. From Andernach, below Coblenz, northward to the British lines, American forces hold the west bank of the stream. South of Coblenz advanced elements of the American army have reached the river.

It is expected the movement across the Rhine will be well under way tomorrow. The First and Third Divisions have been designated to occupy the advanced positions along the 39-kilometer arc east of Coblenz, constituting the bridgehead stipulated in the armistice. The Thirty-second, Ninetieth, Fourth and Forty-second will occupy positions in support of the advanced lines.

The First, Third and Fourth Divisions are of the regular army. The Thirty-second is made up of National Guard regiments from Michigan, Kansas and Wisconsin. Texas and Oklahoma National Army men make up the Ninetieth, while the Forty-second is the "Rainbow" Division, composed of National Guard regiments from Louisiana, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Georgia, Iowa, Alabama, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Maryland, South Carolina, California, Missouri, Virginia, North Carolina, Kansas, Texas, Michigan, New York, Tennessee, Oklahoma, District of Columbia, Nebraska, Colorado and Oregon.

Crossing at Coblenz.

The Ninetieth, will cross at Coblenz, and the others will use the bridges north and south of the city. Arrangements have been made to use tugs if necessary to expedite the crossing.

Engineer regiments have inspected all bridges and roads beyond the river, while a commission made up of German army officers and civilians has given every facility for the Americans to collect information as to the territory that is to be occupied east of the Rhine.

Across the river from Coblenz, in the fortress of Ehrenbreitstein, there had been a small force of Germans, but it has been withdrawn and an American force entered the fortress north and south of the city. Arrangements have been made to use tugs if necessary to expedite the crossing.

People Independent.

A bottle thrown from a window by a woman at an American soldier has been the only overt act of hostility reported since the Americans have entered Coblenz. The incident was regarded as being so trivial that it was left to the local police to deal with the woman. There has developed, however, within the past 24 hours, an unmistakable air of independence on the part of the people, reflecting their conviction that the Americans are going to deal with them much more delicately than have the French or British with the people north and south of the city.

Wilson Hailed as "Apostle of International Justice" in First Welcome to France

BREST, Dec. 12.

MAYOR GOUDE of Brest, in greeting President Wilson as he landed here today, said:

"Mr. President—I feel the deepest emotion in presenting to you the welcome of the Breton population. The ship bringing you to this port is the symbol under the auspices of which the legions of your pacific citizens sprang to arms in the grand cause of independence. Under the same auspices today you bring to the tormented soil of Europe the comfort of your authorized voice in the debates which will calm our quarrels."

"Mr. President, upon this Breton soil our hearts are unanimous in saluting you as the messenger of justice and peace. Tomorrow it will be our entire nation which will acclaim you and our whole people will thrill with enthusiasm over the eminent Statesman who is the champion of their aspirations toward justice and liberty."

"This old Breton city has the honor of first saluting you. In order to perpetuate this honor to our descendants, the Municipal Council has asked me to present you with an address expressing their joy at being privileged to incline themselves before the illustrious democrat who presides over the destinies of the great republic of the United States."

The Mayor then presented the engrossed address of the Council, which said in part:

"Being the first to welcome the President of the United States to France, we respectfully salute the eminent Statesman who so nobly personifies the ideals of liberty and the rights of man. In order to perpetuate this event through ages we direct that these proceedings be deposited in the city archives. Long live President Wilson! Long live the champion and apostle of international justice!"

HINT OF EFFORT TO KILL BARGE PROJECT

Telegram From Washington Warns McAdoo Will Be Asked to Cancel Contracts.

Warning that an effort would be made immediately to induce Director-General McAdoo of the Railroad Administration to cancel the order for new equipment for the Government River Service from St. Louis to New Orleans was received from Washington today by James E. Smith, president of the Mississippi Valley Waterways Association.

The effect of such action would be to discontinue the service, inasmuch as the equipment now in use is temporary and not calculated to permit the service to be operated successfully.

The telegram, which Smith said was from a credited source, which he was not privileged to disclose, follows:

"The following alarming and well-authenticated report reaches me that in view of the fact that President Wilson in his message to Congress indicated that the railroads might be turned back in the near future, effort will be made to secure from McAdoo a ruling directing the discontinuance of all work on Government power boats and barges and the cancellation of contracts made, and further that no new contracts be made. If this is done, it will kill the present river equipment."

President Johnson of the Chamber of Commerce immediately sent the following telegram of protest to Director McAdoo:

"We are informed that attempts are being made to have all work on Government boats and barges discontinued and to order the cancellation of the contracts already made for building of craft on our inland waterways. We most vigorously protest against any such attempts and we confidently rely upon you to discountenance them, as you have done in the past with similar efforts from the same general source."

The universal sentiment of our country is favorable to the improvement and use of our waterways as the only practical method of solving our great transportation problems of the future.

"We are confident that any move on the part of our Government that would delay such work would be disastrous to the commercial interests of our entire country."

Smith further telegraphed every commercial organization in the Mississippi Valley to likewise protest to McAdoo.

The contract let by the Government on Oct. 22 for the construction of permanent river equipment specified six towboats and 40 steel barges, more than five times the capacity of the present makeshift equipment of five towboats and 20 small barges. The cost of the construction was to be $6,170,000.

FORMER GERMAN EMPRESS HAS SEVERE HEART ATTACK

AMSTERDAM, Thursday, Dec. 12.—The former German Empress has suffered another serious heart attack and a doctor has been summoned from Berlin, according to dispatches received here.

GUNS ROAR MIGHTY WELCOME AS LAUNCH CARRIES HIM TO SHORE

Mrs. Wilson Carries an American Flag and a Bouquet as She Goes Ashore With the President.

PRESIDENT LEFT BREST FOR PARIS THIS AFTERNOON

Notes of the Star-Spangled Banner Mingled With the Shouting and Cheering and the Salvos From the Mighty Guns Welcoming the American Executive to France.

BREST, Dec. 13.—President Wilson left Brest for Paris at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

By the Associated Press.

BREST, Dec. 13.—President Wilson reached the harbor of Brest on board the steamer George Washington at 1 o'clock this afternoon and precisely at 3:24 o'clock stepped on shore with Mrs. Wilson, the first time an American President had trod European soil. Mrs. Wilson carried an American flag and a bouquet.

There was a thundering cannonade as the President's launch left the George Washington and landed at Pier No. 3. It was escorted to the Tribune amid cheers and salvos and the notes of the Star Spangled Banner.

President Wilson's progress from the pier to his train was amidst a vociferous welcome from the throngs in the streets.

The President delivered a brief address after landing at Brest, thanking Mayor Goude for the Breton welcome given him. He then drove through the cheering crowds, the frantic ovation continuing until he reached the railway station.

A singular feature of the welcome to the President was the suppressed interest of the German prisoners at Brest. It was evident that their interest in the visitor was as keen as that of the crowd thronging the town, but the authorities kept these Germans in the background.

Among those who lined the route to the station were delegations of patriotic societies and other organizations, and throngs of people from the neighboring localities, attired in gala Breton costumes.

Greeted by House and Pershing.

The first to greet the President, besides the French Ministerial representatives, were Andre Tardieu, French High Commissioner to the United States; the Mayor of Brest, Ambassador Sharp, E. M. House, Gen. John J. Pershing and Gen. Tasker H. Bliss.

The arrival of the President in the harbor was the culmination of an imposing naval spectacle which began as the presidential fleet rounded the outer capes, then passed the entrance forts and moved majestically into the harbor, where the George Washington anchored at the head of a long double column of American dreadnoughts and destroyers and the units of a French cruiser squadron.

The President's ship moved into the harbor through lines formed by the battleships. She dropped anchor about a mile off shore amid a tumultuous demonstration, when the day's first ray of sunlight fell across the George Washington as she anchored, while the huge reproduction of the Statue of Liberty on shore was brilliantly illuminated as the sun broke through the clouds.

The presidential fleet was first sighted at 11:30 o'clock this morning 15 miles off shore. The sea was calm and the stately fleet moved landward under skies which were steadily brightening after a dark and gloomy morning. It was more than an hour later that the ships were signaled at the entrance of the harbor and a great cheer arose from the waiting crowd as the cloud of black smoke showed that the presidential fleet was near.

Sunlight Falls Across Ship.

Ahead came a single destroyer, showing the way to the fleet and close behind loomed the huge bulk of the battleships Pennsylvania and Wyoming, flying respectively the flags of Admiral Mayo, commander of the Atlantic fleet, and Vice Admiral Sims, commander of the American naval forces in European waters. Just back of them moved the George Washington, bearing the President, flanked on either side by the battleships Arkansas, Florida, Utah, Nevada, Oklahoma, New York, Texas and Arizona, by French cruisers and by a great flotilla of American and French torpedo boat destroyers.

Imposing Pageant Moves Forward.

The entrance to the harbor is a narrow strait a mile wide with forts crowning the towering cliffs on each side. Through this avenue the imposing pageant moved, each of the 10 forts contributing its cannonade and the 10 American battleships answering gun for gun.

As the fleet neared the inner harbor the land batteries and the assembled warcraft took up the thunderous salute, while the quays, the hills and the terraces of the old Breton city rang with cheers from the enthusiastic multitude. At the same time, all the war craft, merchantmen and transports dressed ship and manned the yards, and the strains of the Amercan anthem floated over the water, mingling with the roar of the guns and the shouts of the vast crowds.

The George Washington came to anchor a mile off shore while the battleships ranged themselves in double column on either side.

President Wilson witnessed the spectacle from the deck of his steamer, waving greetings and acknowledgments as the cheering throng ashore vied with the artillery in the Old World's first tribute to the American President.

Soon after the arrival of the presidential fleet Stephen Pichon, the French Foreign Minister, and Georges Leygues, the Minister of Marine, who were at Brest to meet the President on behalf of the French Government, boarded the George Washington to extend their first greeting.

When the French Ministers and American Officials boarded the George Washington at 1:30, they were accompanied by Miss Margaret Wilson. As soon as they had gone aboard the George Washington preparations began for the President's landing.

The fleet conveying President Wilson's ship was 40 miles off shore at 10 o'clock. A squadron of American battleships joined the fleet and exchanged salutes with the conveying vessels.

The George Washington was first sighted at 11:30 o'clock, when passing Point St. Mathieu, 15 miles outside the harbor.

The presidential fleet passed the entrance of the harbor of Brest amid salvos of artillery.

Early Morning Gloom. Day broke dark and gloomy over Brest this morning. Heavy clouds shut out sunshine and sky, but the downpour of rain, which prevailed yesterday, abated during the night and the wind subsided to a gentle breeze blowing in from the sea. The mists which veiled the harbor for several days blew away and the splendid panorama of the harbor stood out clearly.

The outer strait leading from the harbor to the sea was clearly marked, with its towering black rocks on the south, where submarines used to lurk and land batteries, with the light-house to the north. The narrow strait was still drenched, but an army of laborers had been clearing the mud from the route for President Wilson and wind-torn decorations had been replaced with new ones.

Within the harbor there was a scene of animation. With the first break of day fleets of warships and merchant craft broke out their colors and dressed ship with long lines of streamers. A group of French destroyers in their war paint swung at anchor, with a score of French destroyers about them. Near at hand loomed the big liner La France, used as a hospital ship, but about to resume her transatlantic service. American destroyers, naval yachts and small craft glided about the harbor and further off lay great flotillas of merchant ships, transports, freighters, and quayside Breton fishing craft.

Two American freighters were still unloading army supplies here and an American transport was preparing to take more American troops homeward. It was a scene stirring with activity and one which glowed with color as by a touch of sunlight.

Airplanes Hover Above. A fleet of airplanes hovered over the entrance to the harbor, keeping an outlook for the approaching fleet. On shore there was equal activity, as vast throngs of Bretons, in their picturesque headgear packed the streets and massed along the quays and terraces overlooking the harbor.

Early in the day French and American soldiers lined the streets and assigned positions along the Cour Dajot, the handsome promenade leading from the commercial harbor to the city, over which President Wilson was to pass.

The whole scene was a mass of bunting with streamers and mottoes. The entire presidential route was lined with Venetian masts, flags and transparencies.

PRESIDENT HEARS PEACE CONGRESS WILL BEGIN JAN. 3

Plans to Clear Up Visits First After Message From House.

ON BOARD THE U. S. S. GEORGE WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Dec. 10 (by wireless to the Associated Press).—President Wilson learned today by wireless from E. M. House that the plans of the French Government contemplate the peace conference not getting down to its session prior to Jan. 3, and he at once began arranging his plans so as to utilize the intervening time to clear up his visits to the battle front, the American troops and Italy and other functions, to leave his time entirely free when the conference begins.

In the meantime, he will have informal conferences with Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain, Premier Clemenceau of France, Premier Orlando of Italy and others to smooth out any points of difference which may arise between the United States and the allies with regard to the groundwork of the conference.

The President is planning to avoid rigorously all functions not necessarily of an official nature, and will veto all pleasure trips. On his arrival in Paris, Saturday, he will be received by President and Mme. Poincare. On that day he will be the guest of honor at a public reception and later will receive a degree bestowed upon him by the University of Paris.

Virtually all of next week has been reserved by President Wilson for conferences, at which he will emphasize the idea that a league of nations must necessarily be part of the peace conference.

Combination of "Friday, the 13th" Considered His Luckiest by President

ANY possible popular superstition that "13, and Friday entering together into an important event in the life of President Wilson—his landing at the university—might be an ill-omen, was allayed long ago by the President himself.

On Friday, the 13th, 1912, President (then Gov.) Wilson, at Sea Girt, N. J., called attention to the fact that he had made 13 set speeches in 13 days, that he had sat in seat No. 13 on the chair car from New York, that there were 13 letters in his name and 13 in the combined names of his opponents, Taft and Roosevelt, and that he was made thirteenth president of Princeton in his thirteenth year at the university. "Thirteen always has been my lucky number," he added smiling.

On New Year's day, 1913, the then President-elect remarked:

"Another lucky year has started, 1913," and made those observations on 13 in his life.

The electoral college which will cast its vote making me President will meet Jan. 13, 1913. (The electoral college cast 436 votes for him or, totaling the numerals, 13.)

When Wilson was inaugurated, 13 Governors were in line and the militia from 13 States and 13 educational institutions were represented.

The President's daughter, Jessie W. Wilson, to Francis B. Sayre was the thirteenth to be performed in the White House. There were 13 letters in the names of the bride and the bridegroom.

The one soldier was Sgt. Leland A. Kaufman, headquarters troop, Second Division, bringing home "Joe" the favorite charger of Major-General Omar Bundy, whose troops stopped the Germans on the Marne.

The war horse carried the General in this and other engagements. Kaufman, detached at Chateau Thierry as a platoon leader in the Ninth Infantry, was gassed and wounded in the leg on July 18.

other correspondent was able to obtain.

How Fox Went to Germany.

For, Capt. Lester testified, was sent to Germany in 1915 by the German embassy ostensibly as a correspondent of the Wildman newspaper and magazine syndicate, and also was employed by the Correspondents Film Co., which the witness said was financed by the German Government. The managers of the Wildman syndicate did not know of Fox's connections with the German embassy, so far as Capt. Lester knew.

He said Fox was attached to the Hearst newspaper headquarters in Germany, and in proof presented a letter from Bradford Merrill, publisher of the New York American, written June 29, 1915, to E. Norgrove Cox, who was in charge of the transmission service of the Hearst or International News Service, on the Continent, located at The Hague. This letter introduced Fox and asked that his dispatches from Germany be forwarded promptly.

Capt. Lester said he had read many of Fox's articles written in Germany and all were "sheer propaganda." Replying to a question by Senator King of Utah, whether there was any evidence that the newspapers for which Fox wrote knew of his connection with the German Government, Capt. Lester said he had no such information. He said he had read articles by many other correspondents in Germany at that time and those written by William Bayard Hale and Fox were more pronouncedly pro-German than any others.

NEW YORK OFFICIALLY GREETED I WOUNDED RETURNING SOLDIER

Sergeant Bringing Back Gen. Bundy's Favorite Horse Only Trooper on Transport Met by Committee.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—One doughboy, being the only trooper aboard the transport Oregonian, which arrived from France today, was welcomed home as if he had been a regiment. The Oregonian was met down the bay by the police patrol, with the Mayor's welcome committee aboard, the police glee club, and women police reserves.

Over the rail leaned the one American soldier. He appeared startled when the police band started to play a march, then waved his hand and danced when he found out what it was all about. He bowed advisable merely to pass the case until 2 p. m. on the chance that the attachments would be served by that time and he announced a continuance until Monday.

Weeks was in court, as were also his principal witnesses, Goldstein and Joy. Weeks is a German enemy alien, though he asserts that he did not know until a few months ago that his citizenship was open to question. For many years he has been a voter and a Republican ward politician and city office holder. He came from Germany with his parents when 2 years old. Records in the Court of Criminal Correction show that his father did not become a citizen until after Weeks had reached his majority. Only minor children attain citizenship through the naturalization of the father.

Criticism of his status as an enemy alien and office holder, in violation of the State Constitution, recently forced his resignation as Commissioner of Weights and Measures, although Mayor Kiehl had said he would not oust Weeks.

AMERICANS SAID TO BE IN POLA

Special to the Post-Dispatch. AMSTERDAM, Dec. 13.—An American squadron has arrived at Pola, formerly one of the principal Austrian naval bases and has taken over the command of the port. EISNER EXPLAINS HIS VIEWS OF GERMAN FUTURE

Some Bourgeoisie and Capitalists, Too, Who Would Welcome Bolshevism, Bavarian Premier Says.

By the Associated Press.

MUNICH, Thursday, Dec. 12.—"If democracy spreads to all classes, as I believe probable, Germany will become the most democratic country in the world," said Kurt Eisner, the Bavarian Premier, in concluding an informal call made by a correspondent today, as he heard his wife's insistent voice outside the door reminding him that it was time to go to the theater.

The Bavarian leader's friends call him "the greatest man in Germany," but his enemies, who apparently are increasing in Bavaria, declare that he is "an impractical and dreaming idealist."

Eisner at present is being attacked by a portion of the Bavarian press. He received the correspondent twice today, first in that section of the Ministry of Affairs where he makes his home and later in his office.

Eisner is short and stocky. The forehead of his head is almost bald, but a shock of iron gray hair hangs far below his collar in the rear. He has huge red whiskers, slightly shot with gray.

Frau Eisner is the constant companion of her husband. She seems a strange surroundings, as in a plain gown she sits about the huge building with paintings of former kings and diplomats in gorgeous uniforms staring from the high walls.

Opinion of Revolution. Eisner received the correspondent the first time while he lounged ungraciously on a couch which groaned with his weight. His wife sat alongside. The Premier explained that he was tired because he had been up nearly all night attending to urgent business. In the afternoon he again received the correspondent.

The Premier explained that his loss of sleep was due to the fact that a mob had stoned the office of the Bavarian Courier. He said employees of the newspaper had been told that they would be permitted to open the paper, and news of this caused the crowd to congregate. The employees finally decided to ascertain whether the paper was free of debt before they reached a decision.

There are bourgeoisie and capitalist classes here in Bavaria who would support Bolshevism," he began rapidly. "There are certain people in Bavaria who would welcome allied occupation."

The Premier explained his assertions by saying that some persons were willing to take a chance with Bolshevism knowing that it would be temporary after it had overturned the present Government. Another class would welcome allied occupation because they were afraid the Bolsheviks might come and feared the present regime anyway.

Unrest, the Premier continued, would manifest itself occasionally. The people of Bavaria were peace-loving and quiet, but had been stirred up by suspicious elements. The Bavarians were unanimously in favor of a deliberate course, rather than policy of force. He complained of the press campaign against him and criticized the newspapers for "their mild outcry against the Entente," adding:

"We have no grounds to fear the allies, but there is no defense against such brainless talk."

Eisner said he particularly blamed the newspapers of the powerful Center party "for raving about material for an attack."

The correspondent told the Premier that many persons were calling him a "dreaming idealist." The Premier laughingly admitted that such might be the case, but added that he thought he was a "wide awake one."

A counter revolution in Bavaria, the Premier added, was improbable. It might be prepared in a roundabout way through unrest, but he believed there was good protection against it. Bavaria was a country of contradictions and it was not easy to democratize the seed left from the ruins of the German empire.

The Premier explained that his opposition to the definite naming of an election day for members of Parliament was because he believed the women could not readily be able to vote intelligently. He gave in finally, he added, because he was a Socialist and had always favored woman suffrage.

Food Crisis Predicted in Berlin Within Three to Five Weeks. By ALNO DOSCH-FLEUROT. (Copyright.)

BERLIN, via Copenhagen, Thursday, Dec. 12.—The specter of hunger is visible to every eye. Inquiry in the factory districts, which are most important politically for the maintenance of tranquility, shows them to be able to keep going on the old war rations for three to five weeks only, on account of the destruction of the old system.

If no food comes from the outside into Germany by that time, a practically insurmountable crisis is inevitable.

"Egg-o-la" will soon be "Wiza-o-la," the nickname for eggs.—Adv.

PREMIER NOW SAYS HOLLAND MIGHT LET WILHELM MOVE

Dutch Government Would Consult on Matter, Declares Beerenbroek, Who Had Stated There Could Be No Question of Interment.

By the Associated Press. AMSTERDAM, Dec. 13.—The Premier of Holland, Jonkheer de Beerenbroek, who Wednesday declared in the lower house that there could be no question of interment in the case of the former German Emperor, now could there be a demand for his return to Germany because of the right of sanctuary, is quoted in a dispatch received from The Hague as also saying: "It is possible that foreign Governments might desire to consult with Holland regarding a new place of residence for the Kaiser. The Dutch Government would not be disinclined to this, on condition that Holland be given a place in such a consultation corresponding with the country's honor and dignity."

"The present arrangement is provisional," he explained, "the Government reserving its definite decision."

NAVAL CRAFT IN EUROPE ALL HOME THIS MONTH

Big Review Will Be Held at New York About Dec. 23, Daniels Says.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Every capital ship of the American Navy now in Europe, including the dreadnought squadrons, which have been operating with the British main fleet during the war, will return to home waters this month, Secretary Daniels announced today. They may be expected to reach New York about Dec. 23, and a naval review will take place there to celebrate the homecoming.

Instructions have been cable to Admiral Mayo, Commander in Chief of the Atlantic fleet and now at Brest, to bring back every naval vessel that can be spared. Many destroyers, converted yachts and other craft probably will come with the bigger ships.

The dreadnoughts ordered to return are Division No. 6, commanded by Rear Admiral Hugh Rodman, battleships New York, flagship; Texas, Wyoming, Florida, Alabama and Nevada; Division No. 3, commanded by Rear Admiral Thomas S. Rogers, battleships Utah, flagship; Oklahoma and Arizona.

The position of the Americans is slightly peculiar. Coblenz was formally occupied by a battalion which arrived on Sunday and which served only as a guard and which probably would have been inadequate in event of serious trouble. German officers are here treating with the American authorities and discharged soldiers, still wearing their uniforms, are numerous in the streets, which seems to offer to the civilians who have not yet felt the strength of an invader's hand reason to believe that the Americans are not of the resentful nature.

Food for Two Months. Instead of cringing, or even showing deep respect, the population has adopted an attitude that found expression in jostling American soldiers on the streets and in sneers and laughs which were only vaguely concealed.

The burgomaster has published the rules regulating local affairs. The latest one orders the closing of cafes at 11 o'clock in the evening. It is estimated at his office that there are sufficient foodstuffs in his district to last them till February, after which assistance will be imperative.

ST. LOUIS AIRPLANE MAIL SERVICE TO BEGIN SUNDAY

Letters Mailed Before 7 P. M. Will Be Delivered in New York at 8 P. M. Next Day.

Beginning Sunday, St. Louis will have the opportunity of sending letters to New York via airplane from Chicago to New York, letters mailed before 7 p. m. in St. Louis being delivered in New York at 8 p. m. the following day, according to an announcement by the Postoffice Department. The postage will be 6 cents an ounce. Packages not exceeding 30 inches in length and 4 inches in diameter may be sent. The airplane will cut the time between Chicago and New York about one-third, flying the distance in nine hours. Either regulation airplane stamps or the common variety may be placed on letters, but if ordinary stamps are used the letter must be marked "by airplane."

Today the Chamber of Commerce began a campaign to raise $12,000 to add to a like amount contributed by the city to put the plot in Forest Park between the Mount St. Louis Police Station and Forest Park Highlands in shape for airplane use. Hangars and repair shop will be erected across from Forest Park on the plot now occupied by the Missouri Rangers.

SAVE YOUR HAIR AND BEAUTIFY IT WITH "DANDERINE"

Spend a few cents! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Try this! Hair gets beautiful, wavy and thick in few moments.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair; besides, it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair

3 NEW LETTERS FOUND IN WELLSTON MYSTERY

"Gang That Broke Up My Home," Mentioned in Handwriting of Slain Grocer.

Three more letters expressing hatred, similar to the one found yesterday, were discovered by county authorities today in the cubby-hole apartment behind the grocery, at 1715 Klenen avenue, Wellston, of Thomas McGrath, 68 years old, who was mysteriously shot and killed there Tuesday night. The letters were in McGrath's handwriting and appeared to be duplicates of those he had sent to someone against whom he entertained a serious grievance.

McGrath referred to the person to whom he wrote as a member of "a gang of villainous conniving vipers and vultures." He referred to an estate of $10,000, of which he said his daughter, Evelyn, 18 years old, had been cheated of her share. In one of the letters, he said: "I will regret until I die that I never could get the opportunity of meeting single-handed two of the scoundrels who committed the murderous assault upon me on two occasions." In another missive he referred to "the notorious gang that broke up my home."

Letters to "Pious Mask." One letter, which has particularly impressed the authorities, follows: "What right have you there? I told you plainly the reason. How dare you bother me, calling me on the phone to trap and humiliate me again? Did you succeed? I should say not. I will force you to discard the false pretense pious mask that you are masquerading under and that shields your villainous looking physiognomy. The guilty often take offense to the stings of truth, so in this case."

The prosecuting officials at Clayton intend to have another talk with the daughter, Evelyn McGrath, who resides at 4566 Oakland avenue, and is employed in a tobacco factory. They are convinced she is innocent of the causes which led to an estrangement between her father and other members of his family. But they think she may possibly be able to throw some light on certain things which may have had a lot to do with the vituperative remarks in the letters.

Divorced Wife Dead. Evelyn's mother died five years ago, after having divorced her husband, Evelyn, who had been in a convent from the time that she was 4 years old, after her mother's death made her home with her brother-in-law, and sister, Patrick and Margaret Monahan. Patrick Monahan became her guardian. Evelyn runs the county authorities that if her mother left an estate she knew nothing about it. At least, she said, she never shared in it. In one of his letters McGrath had referred to his former wife's estate as being worth about $10,000 and had said that Evelyn had been cheated out of her portion of it.

The authorities are anxious to ascertain the identity of the person whom McGrath accused of having cheated his daughter out of her inheritance. One of the letters indicates that the person referred to called at McGrath's store and telephoned to him on several occasions. It is possible, the authorities believe, that McGrath was killed when trying to eject someone from his store after a quarrel.

In one of his letters McGrath referred to a book or scenario. "Even then, they would not be disclosing a hundredth part of this damnable experience I have had with this horde of robbers, thugs and murderers," he wrote.

MEN WITH STOLEN FINERY HIRE ROOM AT HOME OF POLICEMAN

Taylor and McNiff Have Workhouse Records, Police Say — Former Identified as Highway Robber.

Two men who sought a room Wednesday from which to dispose of stolen plunder made the mistake of engaging one at the home of Edward Willis, a policeman of the Carr Street District.

When Willis arrived home he opened three suit cases which the men had brought to the room and found them crammed with women's silk apparel and other articles. He laid in wait until yesterday and arrested the men, whom the police recognized as Norman Taylor, 3510 Olive street, and Roy T. McNiff, 2024 Magazine street, both of whom they say have served workhouse sentences.

Mrs. C. H. Brown, 4141 McPherson avenue, identified one of the suit cases as stolen from her home on Dec. 10 and some of the silk apparel as hers. R. O. Rosen, 4736 Dahlia avenue, identified Taylor as one of two men who robbed him of $14 Friday night at King's highway and Gresham avenue.

While Taylor was occupying the room at the policeman's house, detectives were watching his old address to question him in regard to the shooting on Nov. 30 of Harry Morgan, 705 North Channing avenue, who was found on his doorstep and who refused to discuss his wound, prompting the belief that he had been shot by one of his "pals." Taylor frequently had been seen in his company.

CITATION OF LEADER OF 138TH INFANTRY AT CHEPPY

Col. Harry S. Howland Continued His Advance After His Hand Had Been Shattered.

The official citation for bravery of Col. Harry S. Howland, who commanded the 138th (St. Louis) Infantry at the start of the Argonne offensive, has been received and made public by the New York brokerage firm of O. E. Chaney & Co., of which he is a member. It is as follows:

"Col. Harry S. Howland, commanding the 138th Infantry—For courage, skill, intrepidity and steadfastness, resulting in the capture of the enemy stronghold, Cheppy. With his left hand shattered by hostile shell fire, he continued in command of a mere handful of men and held his ground, subjected to heavy artillery and machine-gun fire from front and both flanks, until about noon, when the arrival of French and American tanks enabled him with his infantry to attack and capture or destroy many machine-gun nests on both flanks, resulting in securing some 300 prisoners and the stronghold of Chepp. He gave an example of courage under suffering and intrepidity and steadfastness of purpose in action that will make the taking of Cheppy a never-to-be-forgotten exploit by our troops."

POLICE WANT TO GIVE SHOW

A committee representing the Police Relief Association will petition the Police Board for permission to hold a two weeks' entertainment in April to replenish the treasury, depleted by payments to members in war service.

Instead of the usual $1-a-month assessment charged against members of the association this month the association taxed each member $5. Another similar assessment will probably be called next month, officials of the association said. They stated they expected to raise $50,000 by means of the entertainment, if permitted, and thereby relieve members from further excessive taxation.

INVESTIGATING MEANS TO FIGHT INFLUENZA

American Public Health Association Refers Mass of Conflicting Evidence to Five Physicians.

By the Associated Press
CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Five physicians began consideration today of the question of whether influenza masks and the closing of churches and places of amusement are practical measures to combat the spread of influenza.

The question was referred to a committee of five by the American Public Health Association at the closing session of its four-day convention and as the result of a spirited debate which developed about equal division of opinion. Some physicians asserted masks were "poppycock" and the closing of churches and amusement places "entirely unnecessary," while others contended such measures were "most efficacious."

The committee appointed to "fight it out" consists of Drs. W. H. Davis, E. P. Koff, W. C. Woodward, D. B. Armstrong and W. A. Evans.

They will take up the influenza situation where the association left off, considering the mass of the evidence presented at the sessions, and will make recommendations to be applied in combating the epidemic. Members of the committee stated today that their deliberations might last two or three days.

The various communities for which we are working will know that we have at hand the best available information science has yet discovered concerning the disease, said Dr. Charles J. Hastings of Toronto, Canada, the retiring president, "but we cannot expect to draw upon a definite program for combating influenza epidemics when we see so wide a divergence of opinion among medical authorities as has been shown here."

Health officers from the southern section of the country strongly favored strict quarantine measures, those from middle-sized cities were moderately favorable to quarantine, and the use of masks, while the health officers of the larger cities opposed both these measures, and placed great reliance on vaccine.

The organization of a Federal department of health, and the combining of semi-public and private associations interested in various phases of public health movements, was strongly urged in an address before the association late by Dr. George E. Vincent, head of the Rockefeller Foundation.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION WOULD ENLARGE ITS SCOPE

Asks for Legislation for Jurisdiction Over All Partnerships in Interstate Commerce.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Legislation to extend the powers of the Federal Trade Commission so as to bring all individuals and partnerships operating in interstate commerce within its supervision is recommended in the commission's annual report, made public today, outlining activities for the year ended June 30.

The commission also again urges enactment of legislation previously submitted to Congress, designed to prevent the practice of commercial bribery.

During the year, the commission says, its work was chiefly devoted to assisting other departments and special war agencies of the Government in matters concerned with the prosecution of the war. The report reviews many special activities and cost investigations prosecuted, an inquiry into control of enemy corporations, through which assistance was rendered to the Alien Property Custodian and the intelligence sections of the army and navy.

Investigations into the cost of production and control of foodstuffs which had previously been begun were continued, and one of these culminated in reports on meat packing companies made public in a report to the President. Several other food investigations still are under way.

American manufacturers and exporters, taking advantage of the Webb bill, filed with the commission 36 statements of combination for purposes of export trade. Arrangements are being made to oversee the activities of these combinations, the report states, saying in this regard:

"The world-wide dislocation of trade and industry incident to the war is creating new conditions which may vitally affect American business in the future. The commission is closely following new developments in international trade, as they arise, with a view to ascertaining the bearing they may have on the foreign trade of the United States."

PROF. DELBRUCK ADMITS HOPE DECEIVED GERMANS

Historian, Reviewing Blunders in War, Says He Underestimated Loss of Internal Strength.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Germany's blunders in the conduct of the war are candidly reviewed by Prof. Hans Delbruck, the eminent historian, in an article in the Preussische Jahrbuecher, which has just been issued.

"What with the mistakes we made," he says, "and bad as things were a few months ago, I could not abandon hope that our front would hold and would wring from our enemies an armistice that would cover our frontiers. Our hope has deceived us, our pride is broken. I greatly underestimated the internal dissolution of our strength and the shattering of our once firm political structure. In truth, I never foresaw such a result, even in the dark hours of gloomy apprehension which I experienced."

Prof. Delbruck was permitted in his writings to mention the British and American statistics of new ship construction only by writing that they could not possibly be true. When he wished to report the facts concerning the transport of American troops to France last June, he was positively forbidden to cite figures, on the ground that, in the opinion of the German high command, "Secretary Baker's report was nothing but American bluff, intended to deceive the Germans."

"He regards the future with forboding. All Germans must hope against hope, he says, that this is for Germany the plowing time and the harvest will yet come."

SAM RUBIN IS ACQUITTED OF THE CHARGE OF ARSON

Judge Orders Verdict in Defendant's Favor Because There Was No Evidence Against Him.

A verdict of acquittal was returned by a jury in Judge Calhoun's court this morning in the case of Sam Rubin of 4749 Newberry terrace, on trial on a charge of third degree arson in connection with the burning Dec. 1, 1917, of the Jefferson Wall Paper Co., 1553 South Jefferson avenue, of which he was proprietor.

At the conclusion of the State's evidence a demurrer was filed on behalf of the defendant, and Judge Calhoun instructed the jury to acquit Rubin. The judge said that while there were some suspicious circumstances in connection with the fire, such as an odor of coal oil and some oily rags, there was no evidence to indicate that Rubin knew anything about them. He said the evidence showed that Rubin had not been near the store for 12 hours before the fire.

PERMANENT REORGANIZATION OF ARMY GENERAL STAFF PLANNED

Project for General Military Policy Will Await Settlement of the Versailles Conference.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Definite plans for reorganization of the War Department and the General Staff, embodying the experience gained during the war, soon will be ready for presentation to Congress. This project will not include, however, any proposal of a general military policy for the country, as that question will be held in abeyance until after the Peace Conference at Paris.

General Staff officials are giving attention now to the preparation of a bill for the permanent reorganization of the staff itself. It is understood that reorganization plans soon will be laid before Secretary Baker for the abolishing of the old bureau system and for the centralizing of both authority and responsibility for the entire military establishment in the General Staff.

Instructions for the preparation of such plans were issued by Gen. March when the armistice with Germany was signed. During the war the emergency authority of the Overman bill has proved sufficient to

U. S. DEAL TO PURCHASE TRACT ON ISLAND AT PANAMA CANAL

Expenditure of $15,000,000 Said to Be Contemplated as Site for 3000-Man Garrison.

By the Associated Press.
PANAMA, Dec. 13.—Negotiations have begun by the United States for the purchase of property rights on the island of Taboga, at the Pacific entrance of the Panama Canal in Panama territory. It is said that the plan is to add to the canal fortifications six batteries of coast artillery and a post of 3000 men. The cost of the property rights, it is said, will aggregate $15,000,000.

The village of Taboga, which is older than Panama City, will not be touched, it is said, but the remainder of the island will be reserved for military purposes. The residents of the island are protesting against being evicted, and the Panama Government has the matter under negotiation with the Washington Government.

Under the terms of the treaty of 1903 the United States may occupy any territory in Panama required for the operation of the canal or its defense by making settlement for private titles.

WOULD DISCONTINUE ONE OF PARALLEL SPRINGFIELD LINES

Regional Director Bush and Frisco Operating Officials Decide on Economic Measure.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 13.—The Public Service Commission has been notified by B. F. Bush, regional director of railways, and operating officials of the Frisco system, that they soon will apply for permission to discontinue operation of either the Kansas City-Springfield branch of the Frisco, or the Kansas City, Clinton & Springfield Railroad, which is controlled by the Frisco.

The lines formerly were independent, but for more than 10 years have been Frisco properties. They virtually are parallel lines, both passing through several of the same towns, though each serves many small towns not reached by the other. Only local trains have been operated over them, the fast Kansas City-Springfield trains using the old Kansas City, Fort Scott & Memphis line, which was acquired by the Frisco many years ago.

BEAUTY HINTS FOR YOUR HAIR

How to Prevent It From Growing Gray

There is no occasion for you to look unattractive or prematurely old because of gray, streaked, or faded hair. Don't let this condition with its look of age rob you of your youthful beauty and the wonderful opportunities which life offers. No matter how gray, prematurely gray, lusterless or faded your hair might be, "La Creole" Hair Dressing will revive the color glands of nature—promote a healthy condition of the hair and scalp—and cause all of your gray or faded hair to become evenly dark, soft, lustrous and beautiful. This preparation is not a dye, but an elegant toilet requisite which is easily applied by simply combing or brushing through the hair.

USE "LA CREOLE" HAIR DRESSING to prevent your hair from growing gray and to restore a beautiful dark color to gray or faded hair. For sale by Walfrid Wilson Drug Stores, Judge & Dolph Drug Stores, and all good drug stores everywhere. Orders from out-of-town customers filled promptly upon receipt of regular price, $1.20.—ADVERTISEMENT.

NAVY EQUAL TO ANY BY 1925 IS POLICY OF U. S.

General Board of Navy Urges Appropriations for Fleet to Protect Our New Merchant Marine.

GREAT SIX-YEAR BUILDING PROGRAM

12 Superdreadnoughts and 16 Battle Cruisers Proposed; Total of 450 Destroyers Is Aim.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Neither the end of hostilities nor proposals for a league of nations has altered the policy of the General Board of the Navy regarding making the American Navy second to none in the world. Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, chairman of the Executive Committee of the board, yesterday told the House Naval Affairs Committee that the navy should be equal to that of any other nation by 1925, and urged that sufficient appropriations to make this possible be made by Congress.

Badger also told the committee that the United States had agreed with the British Government to pay $50 for each American soldier transported overseas in British vessels. He said England frequently had asked for a larger sum, but no agreement as to an increase had been reached. "The General Board believes that under the present world's condition, and under conditions likely to obtain in the future," Badger said, "the United States navy should steadily continue to increase. Ultimately it should be equal to the most powerful maintained by any other nation of the world. Year by year development should be made as consistent with the facilities of the country, but the limit above defined should be attained not later than 1925."

To Protect U. S. Shipping. "Navies must be the principal support of a league of nations, and the United States, from its wealth, influence and power, will be called upon to contribute a large share of the international police force to render such a league effective."

The duty of the navy in the future, the Admiral said, will be not only to guard the country against invasion, but to protect as well the great merchant marine now being built. "Sea power will always remain a factor of vast importance in international relations," Badger declared.

"The great naval lesson of the war has been that the nation possessing the most powerful navy was able in a few weeks to drive the German merchants' flag from the seas and to keep open her own trade routes, and yet, when the war commenced, Germany possessed the second best navy in the world. It proved to be not good enough. The blockade, which she was not able to break, was the greatest contributing cause of her ultimate collapse."

Completion of the three-year building program authorized in 1916 and which was halted by the anti-submarine craft, was recommended by Badger. Work has not yet been started on six battleships, six battle cruisers, two scout cruisers, nine fleet submarines, two destroyer tenders and one fleet submarine tender, he said. Lack of ships of this type, he declared, would have been fatal to the United States if it had been fighting the war alone.

Badger said that before the armistice was signed requiring Germany to surrender the greater part of its navy, the General Board had recommended a six-year building program to include 12 superdreadnoughts and 16 battle cruisers, but added that immediate necessities would be met by the three-year building program recommended by the Secretary of the Navy. This program will add 16 battle cruisers to the six already authorized, he said, and at the same rate of authorization would make a total of 19 by 1925. Great Britain now has 13 of these vessels built or building, he said, and it is estimated she will have 19 or 20 by 1925.

Badger said that type for type American battleships compare favorably with those of any other nation, pointing out that the six battleships soon to be laid down are designed for a displacement of 43,000 tons of 23 knots speed, a main battery of 12 16-inch guns and are heavily armored. They will be the most powerful vessels in the world.

Badger stated that provisions for 108 destroyers is made in the 1920, three-year program. There are now 342 either built or being built, he said, and in 1925 there will therefore be a total of 450, compared with England's 516 at present.

"The submarine program calls for 21 fleet submarines, 146 S type, 24 anti-submarines and 42 mine layers," he said. "The British navy has now built or building 228 submarines, of which about 75 are of large or fleet type."

Badger emphasized the need for additional mine sweepers and patrol vessels, and spoke of the development during the war of the airplane carrier. Fleet engagements will be preceded in the future by operations in the air, he stated, and the General

Board recommends that the fleet be provided with facilities to carry on such operations.

Disposition of the ships surrendered by Germans rests with the peace conference, Admiral Badger stated in response to questions at the close of the meeting, as to whether or not he thought the vessels should be destroyed, returned or distributed among the allies.

"If England gets the lion's share of those ships," asked Representative Kelly of Michigan (Rep.), "do you still think we should build to the point where we would have a navy equal to her?"

"The necessity of the United States navy being equal to the most powerful maintained by any other nation in the world by 1925 is as great now as it has ever been," replied the Admiral. "This may not be possible by 1925 if the German ships are distributed in large numbers to certain Powers, but we should do it as speedily as possible."

In reply to a question of Representative Butler whether the General Board had adopted any general policy in regard to the distribution of the fleets in the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, Admiral Badger said that no policy had been recommended as yet.

An account of the development of the fleet will be given in a special issue of the Post-Dispatch.

NO ELECTION INQUIRY MADE

District Attorney Oliver Denies Story of Investigation.

St. Louis, Dec. 13.—District Attorney Oliver today said that no investigation is being conducted under his direction of the November election.

There has been no complaint, he declared, of irregularities of any character made to his office since the election.

Several reports telling of the progress of an investigation under the direction of the November election.

District Attorney's direction have been quoted which, Oliver declared, were without foundation.

WORLD'S GREATEST NAVY BY 1925 IS PLANNED FOR U. S.

Badger. Ten years ago the submarine was not larger than 150 tons, could cruise less than 500 miles, and was very vulnerable. Today they are 30 times larger and can make trips of 7000 miles and more. They have destroyed hundreds of vessels and have laid mines in sea lanes and harbors, making constant sweeping operations necessary. No one knows, the Admiral said, how much further the development will go.

One hundred and fifty German and seven Austrian submarines were sunk in the war prior to August, Admiral Badger told the committee, quoting reports from Admiral Sims, the Germans had built 331 submarines and that the Austrian underwater fleet comprised only 35 craft, 10 of which were obsolete.

On Aug. 1 last, Admiral Badger said the Germans had 119 submarines operating in the Atlantic and 23 in the Mediterranean, while at the same time Austria had 18 in the Mediterranean.

Had the United States been fighting alone in the present war, the Admiral said, its lack of ships would have been serious and perhaps fatal, because it has been learned that the navy must be strong enough not only to protect from invasion, but also to drive the enemy's navy from the seas.

He told the committee that the country never had been, and probably never will be again, as well prepared to build a powerful fleet as at present. Hundreds of thousands of men have become skilled in shipyards which have been building vessels for the merchant marine, he said, and as fast as these yards are released from that work the training and experience of these men should be utilized to the greatest extent possible.

The question was asked Admiral Badger if Great Britain favored construction of a large navy by the United States, and that if the statement of Lord Geddes that the United States should assume a larger part in the protection of the seas, referred to peace times as well as during the war. Admiral Badger replied that he did not know what England's desire now is.

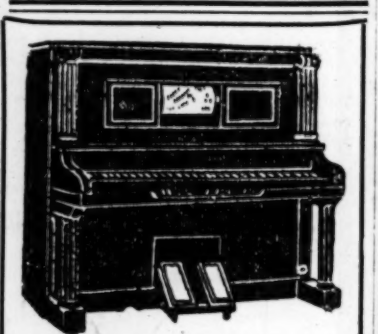

Records of the sinking of German submarines are more or less inaccurate, the Admiral said, because there is no definite information of destruction of the crafts by mines. He said British ships had picked up Germans from submarines that supposedly had been sunk, but later it was learned that the submarines had made port and were repaired.

German Mystery Gun.

The German gun that shelled Paris was a "15-inch one reduced to 9," Admiral Badger said.

Only the maintenance of rigid airships is now planned by the General Board, the Admiral told the committee. Use of the rigid airships by the Germans, included scout patrol work over the North Sea. Admiral Badger said that the British reported increased effectiveness of the Zeppelins, but not for raiding purposes, because the bulky craft are too vulnerable. The use of Zeppelins would not materially reduce need of scout cruisers, he said.

SPANISH INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC

Spreading Throughout St. Louis Territory.

Many are finding relief from Influenza, Colds, Sore Throat, and perhaps preventing pneumonia, it is said, by the use of Miller's Antiseptic Oil (known as Snake Oil) which contains Turpentine, Camphor, Oil of Cloves, Oil of Cassia, Oil of Eucalyptus, Oil of Peppermint, and other valuable oils. Its great penetrating, pain relieving qualities insure almost instant relief when applied freely on the chest or throat well covered with Miller's Antiseptic Oil and Pneumonia. Save when first symptoms arise. The oil penetrates through to the affected parts and tends to open up the air passages, making breathing more easy, relieving the pain. And for the cough a few drops on a little sugar usually brings prompt relief. Don't fail to have a bottle on hand when the attack comes on and if used according to directions results are assured of your money refunded. On sale at all drug stores, 30c, 50c and $1.00 bottles. Remember this treatment will not interfere with purgative prescribed by your doctor.

Get it at Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., E. 10th St. and Jefferson Ave. or Johnson Drug Co., 10th St. and Olive St.

GIRLS
Clear Your Skin Save Your Hair With Cuticura

Mothers! Read the Signs!

If you will learn to give Cascarets, the candy cathartic, to your children, instead of castor oil, calomel and pills, you will save money, and avoid lots of worry, coaxing and sickness. Truly!

When one of the kiddies has a white tongue, a tainted breath, sour stomach or a cold; when bilious, constipated, feverish, remember, a sweet candy Cascaret to quickly "work" away the nasty bile, sour fermentations and poisons should always be the first treatment given. Children really love to take candy Cascarets and they never give the tender bowels, never injure, and never disappoint the worried mother. Give Cascarets to children one year old and upwards. Each 10 cent box contains full directions for children and adults.

WOMEN PLAN UNIVERSAL CELEBRATION OF PEACE

World-Wide Demonstration in April Discussed at National Council's Session.

One of the principal developments at the two-day conference of the National Women's Council, in session at the residence of the president, Mrs. Philip N. Moore, 3125 Lafayette avenue, is the plan for a universal peace celebration to be held simultaneously, throughout all the world, April 18-19, the two days preceding next Easter. It is urged by delegates representing many organizations that the National Council assume the initial expense of advertising and organizing the undertaking.

Almost the first act of the council was to commit itself entirely to the endorsement of the League of Nations as conceived by President Wilson.

A resolution will be acted upon today urging that an appeal be presented to all governments establishing that women maintain peace by an invading enemy in time of war be regarded, not as ashamed, but as wounded in war; and that all governments be implored to confer this status upon their belligerents and in the public mind.

Delegates Present. It was announced by the delegate representing the National Women's Christian Temperance Union that at a meeting last week in Chicago Miss Anna A. Gordon had been commissioned to proceed at once to Paris to urge world-wide prohibition upon the peace conference. Representatives of 26 national women's organizations affiliated with the National Council of Women, which is the American branch of the International Council of Women, numbering 10,000,000 members throughout the world, attending the conference, are as follows: General Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. John S. Sherman, Illinois; Women's Relief Corps, Mrs. Eliza Brown Daggett, Massachusetts; Women's Christian Temperance Union, Mrs. M. S. Parks of Evanston, Ill.; Young Women's Christian Association, Mrs. Wallace Hamilton, New York; Equal Suffrage Association, Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, St. Louis; Congress of Mothers, Mrs. W. H. Sawyer, Columbus, O.; Federation of College Women, Mrs. Myra Kingman Miller, California; Women's Peace Party; Fred Taussig, St. Louis; Children of America, Loyalty League; Mrs. Nat Brown, St. Louis; Women's Mutual Improvement Association of Utah, Mrs. Ruth Fox; Women's Relief Society, Mrs. Amy Brown Lyman, of Utah; Secretary National Council, Mrs. Flo Jamison Miller, of Illinois; Federation of Music Clubs, Mrs. David Allen Campbell, New York; Associated Collegiate Alumnae, Mrs. Lila Taylor, Washington; Council on Rivers and Harbors, Mrs. Mary M. North, Washington; College Clubs, Mrs. Gertrude S. Martin, Ithaca, New York; Needlework Guild, Mrs. John W. Day, St. Louis; Child Welfare League, Mrs. W. H. Brown.

Address by French Woman. A guest of honor is Mme. Avril de Sainte Croix of the French Council of Women. With her traveling companion, Miss Marie Butts, as interpreter, she delivered an address this afternoon in which she showed how the aims and interests of French women club workers do not differ materially from those of America. Mrs. J. B. Denmore, assistant chief of the women's division of the Federal community labor employment program of the National Labor Board, and Mrs. W. E. Cramer, State director, appeared before the Council asking for its co-operation in adjusting labor conditions disturbed by the war. They urged that employment for discharged soldiers and women released from war work be sought only through the Federal employment offices being established in every community. They told how a survey is being conducted in all the war industries, demobilization, and in all war industries to regulate and distribute in a large way the demand and supply of labor.

HOUSE DEBATES BILL TO RAISE SALARIES OF FEDERAL JUDGES

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—A bill to increase the salaries of Federal Judges was debated in the House yesterday. It provides that District Judges shall receive $6500 a year, with $4500 additional for each half million population in districts having more than 500,000 population. The salary of the District Judge of the Eastern District of Missouri would be increased to $8000 or $8500. The chief opposition to the bill was directed against the provision which would permit the President, with the approval of the Senate, to appoint an additional Judge in any district where he finds that the sitting Judge, having reached the age of 70 and failed to resign, is unable to discharge efficiently the duties of his office. If such additional Judge should be appointed he would outrank the Judge who is eligible to retire. Representative Cannon of Illinois spoke vigorously against this provision. He was interrupted by Speaker Champ Clark, who, from the floor, referred to the case of Judge Dyer in St. Louis, who is still on the bench, at the age of 82. Clark said that, though Judge Dyer had been vigorous up to about two years ago, of late his health had not been so good. It is understood that Speaker Clark favors the passage of the measure. Representative Dyer, Isaac and Esen of St. Louis will vote for it.

Skinner Bond Case Up Dec. 19.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—It was announced today that the case of Thomas K. Skinner against the St. Louis County Court, brought to the United States Supreme Court on appeal from the District Court of the Eastern Missouri District, probably would be reached for hearing about Dec. 19. If the case is not heard then, it will probably go over till after the Christmas recess. Skinner is seeking to restrain the Court from issuing $3,000,000 of bonds voted for road improvements in St. Louis County about three years ago.

WOMEN VISITORS ARE GUESTS AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. Philip North Moore Entertains Out-of-Town Members of National Council.

MRS. PHILIP NORTH MOORE of 3125 Lafayette avenue entertained with a luncheon yesterday in honor of several distinguished visitors. These visitors came to attend an executive meeting of the National Council which is the American branch of the International Council of Women, of which branch Mrs. Moore is president.

The luncheon guests numbered the delegates to the meeting and included Mrs. Eliza Brown Daggett of Massachusetts, Mrs. Ruth Fox and Mrs. Amy Brown Lyman of Utah, Mrs. Parks of Chicago, Mrs. Flo Jamison Miller of Washington, Mrs. W. H. Sawyer of Columbus, O., Mrs. Nat. Brown of St. Louis, Mrs. John S. Sherman of Illinois, Mrs. Myra Kingman Miller of California, Mrs. Walter McNabb Miller, formerly of Columbia, Mo., but who has recently come here to reside; Mrs. Frederick Tausig of St. Louis, Mrs. David Allen Campbell of New York, Mrs. Lila Taylor of Washington, Mrs. Wallace Hamilton of New York, Mrs. Gertrude S. Martin of Ithaca, N. Y., Mrs. Mary M. North of Washington, Mrs. John W. Day and Mrs. W. H. Brown of Washington, Mme. Avril de Ste. Croix, who is here as a guest of the Y. W. C. A., was also present.

Today the visitors were guests of the Federated Clubs of the city on an automobile tour and most of them will return this evening to their homes.

The council is practically a federation of all the women's organizations of the world and it is a distinctive honor that a St. Louis woman should be president of its American branch.

Social Items

Mrs. Francis Maguire of 1812 Longfellow boulevard is one of the prominent young South Side matrons who is interested in the success of the Allies' Shop. Mrs. Maguire is a member of the Shoe Department Committee, of which Miss Frances Gray is chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Harrison of 4386 Lindell boulevard have sold their home to Mrs. M. Hayward Post, and will take possession of Mrs. Post's home at 5271 Waterman avenue in the near future. Mrs. Post has had as her guests Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Tanner of Denver. Mrs. Tanner is Mrs. Post's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Whitelaw of 42 Portland place returned on Tuesday from a visit to Boston and New York. They have with them their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Whitelaw, II, with their baby, who will remain until their own home at 5291 Westminster place is put in readiness for occupancy. Mr. and Mrs. George Whitelaw have been in Boston, where Mr. Whitelaw was stationed at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in the naval aviation branch of the service.

Mrs. Alfred Shapleigh of 6 Portland place has returned from a visit with relatives in Cincinnati. She also visited her son, Lieut. Wesel Shapleigh, recently, who is stationed at Fort Sill.

Mrs. O. L. Schiller of Waterman avenue entertained last week for some of the soldiers from the Barracks who have since departed for their homes. She was assisted by Misses Hazel Thalman, Genevieve and Helen Kavanaugh.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Freeman of 5798 Pershing avenue have bought the former residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wells Blodgett Priest at 315 Westgate avenue, and are now at home there. Mr. and Mrs. Priest are residing at 5857 Waterman avenue.

Mrs. J. Sidney Walker of the Oxford Apartments who has been spending the past fortnight in New York City at the Plaza Hotel, is expected home in a few days. Mrs.

Samuel Nave of St. Joseph, Mo., accompanied Mrs. Walker.

Mrs. Pierre Garneau has leased her home, at 4529 Pershing avenue, to Mrs. Edgar Ames. Mrs. Garneau expects to depart the first of next week for the East, where she will spend the holidays with her daughters, Misses Elise and Clair Garneau.

A Dead Stomach

Of What Use Is It?

Thousands of people throughout America are taking the slow death treatment daily. They are murdering their own stomachs. The best friend they have, and in their sublime ignorance they think they are aiding the cause of nature. This is no sensational statement; it is a startling fact, the truth of which any honorable physician will not deny. These thousands of people are swallowing huge quantities of pills and other strong digesters, made especially to digest the food they eat. Without any aid at all from the digestive membrane of the stomach. Micro-stomach tablets relieve distressed stomachs in five minutes; they do more. Taken regularly for a few weeks they build up the run-down stomach and make it strong enough to digest its own food. Then indigestion, belching, sour stomach and headache will go. Micro-stomach tablets are sold by druggists everywhere and are guaranteed them—ADV.

who are at school at Ogontz, and her son, Ensign Carl Koehler, who will join them in New York on a short leave to spend the Christmas holidays.

The ladies of the Church of the Unity at 5015 Waterman avenue, who had planned to have a Christmas bazaar, luncheon, supper and entertainment, have had to abandon their plans, and will hold a private sale on Friday mornings.

For Weakness After Grip or Influenza take Grove's tasteless chill tonic, which is simply iron and quinine suspended in syrup, so pleasant even children like it. You can soon feel its strengthening, invigorating effects, 60.—Adv.

Bread, Butter and Cheese Limit. Food Administrator Gephart yesterday sent notices to all hotels and restaurants reminding them that not more than one-half ounce of butter, one ounce of cheese or two ounces of bread can be served to each patron. Complaints have been made that there are many violations of this rule, and cases that are proven will be severely dealt with.

POLICE ITEMS

GEORGE HIRSHFIELD, 25 YEARS old, a teamster, 1115 Dillon street, and William Traut, 25, baggageman, 1009 Plecker street, were seriously stabbed in the back last night near the intersection of Clark and Olive streets. The stabbing was done by a man who was seen by the police. The man was seen to come to St. Louis from Mississippi, walked into a saloon at 25 North Twentieth street a short time after the stabbing and boasted to the bartender of having beaten
two men who had attacked him near Twentieth street and Clark avenue a few minutes before. His case was taken and evidence of the fight. He is being sought by the police.

A BOY, DESCRIBED AS ABOUT 14 years old, robbed Mrs. Rosalina Fischer, 6009 North Vandeventer avenue, of a purse containing a $20 bill and some change yesterday. He snatched the purse from her arm.

BERNIE SMITH, 9 YEARS OLD, of 214 North Vandeventer avenue, told police last night he had been robbed of his pocket money by a man who was seen by the police. The man was seen to come to St. Louis from Mississippi, walked into a saloon at 25 North Twentieth street
a short time after the stabbing and boasted to the bartender of having beaten
two men who had attacked him near Twentieth street and Clark avenue a few minutes before. His case was taken and evidence of the fight. He is being sought by the police.

FOUR ROBBERS IN THE RESTAUrant of Frank Wisinger, 1113 Franklin avenue, ordered a large meal before they held up the night manager, William Moss, and robbed him of $100 and a watch. The robbery was done by a man who was seen by the police. The man was seen to come to St. Louis from Mississippi, walked into a saloon at 25 North Twentieth street
a short time after the stabbing and boasted to the bartender of having beaten
two men who had attacked him near Twentieth street and Clark avenue a few minutes before. His case was taken and evidence of the fight. He is being sought by the police.

ROBERT WRIGHT, HOT SPRINGS,
Ark., was struck on the head and rendered unconscious at 1 a. m. today by one of two men who robbed him of $25 and a watch. The robbery was done by a man who was seen by the police. The man was seen to come to St. Louis from Mississippi, walked into a saloon at 25 North Twentieth street a short time after the stabbing and boasted to the bartender of having beaten
two men who had attacked him near Twentieth street and Clark avenue a few minutes before. His case was taken and evidence of the fight. He is being sought by the police.

MRS. ALICE CHAMBERLAIN OF Grafton, W. Va., has asked the police to help her find her wardrobe trunk containing wearing apparel and jewelry valued at $1,000 and a $50 Liberty Bond and $50 worth of War Savings Stamps. The trunk was lived at the freight entrance of the Jefferson Hotel, where Mrs. Chamberlain is stopping, yesterday afternoon, and disappeared after a baggageman had taken it on a truck preliminary to removing it to Mrs. Chamberlain's room.

HERMAN LISSER, A DRUGGIST AT 4008 Gravois avenue, told the police that $407, which had been given him for safekeeping by Mrs. Emma Brenner, 4174 New-street, was taken from a hiding place behind the prescription counter yesterday afternoon.
A clerk employed by Lissier departed from the store in Lissier's absence and failed to return, the police were told.

JEWELRY VALUED AT $1075 WAS stolen in burglaries yesterday afternoon at the homes of Mrs. E. D. Y. 4847 W. 10th avenue, and Mrs. Winifred Miller, 4414 Delor street.

MISCELLANEOUS

J. I. EPSTEIN, A REAL ESTATE
dealer, filed suit yesterday against W. W.
Howe and Louise Gaiser, former owners of the Burdick Apartments, 653 Pershing avenue, for $100,000 commission. He claims they made a written contract with him last January by which they were to give him 25 per cent commission on the sale price of the apartments if he found a purchaser, and they were to give him 60 days' notice if they wanted to terminate the contract. Without notifying him, he says, they permitted another real estate broker to sell the property in October for $42,500.

OTTO J. SCHATZ, 33 YEARS OLD, 3727 Hartford street, secretary of the Continental Brick Co., and secretary of the Great Bank Note Co., died yesterday at Barnes Hospital from pneumonia, following influenza.

THE WILL OF CAPT. CHARLES H.
Dunker, Jr., who was killed in action in France, Oct. 17, 1917, was probated yesterday, and provided that his father and mother should inherit his estate. The father said, however, that Capt. Dunker had intended that the property go to his wife, Mrs.
Ada Dunker, and Charles Dunker Sr. said he would see that the property was given to his wife. Capt. Dunker was married May 1 to Miss Ada Nicholson, 611 Pershing avenue, and sailed immediately afterward. He did not have time to change his will, his father said.
The will was made Aug. 1, 1917, and named the father as executor.

CAPT. CLARENCE J. SODEMANN, U. S.
Army, 18th Infantry, who was killed in the Argentine fighting, left an estate of $11-019.44, of which $10,000 is war risk insurance, according to an inventory filed yesterday.

MRS. CATHERINE SHINE, 73 YEARS old, 2814 Caroline street, died at the city hospital last night from burns suffered at noon when her clothes caught fire while she was burning papers in a kitchen stove.

FIVE FIREMEN WERE CUT AND bruised at 2 p. m. yesterday. A fire engine of Engine Company No. 32 was struck by a westbound Olive car. Twenty-five passengers were told police the car was running rapidly and that the firemen failed to heed
the signals of persons who tried to stop it.
The passengers were: Capt. Elmer Hillenkott; Chauffeur
Clay Hoveler; and firemen James Madison,
John Woodfine and William Purvis.

POLICE HAVE BEEN ASKED TO search for Matilda Hellerung, 17 years old, who disappeared from her home, 2840 Russell avenue, Dec. 11. A search has also been requested for Viola Wysocki, 14, 3063 Ruskin avenue, who has been away since last Sunday. Catherine Crowe, 40 years old, is being sought at request of attorneys of the Y.
W. C. A., 1417 Locust street. She left there Wednesday.

NEGROSS IDENTIFIED BY SHOES

Search Made for Man Said to Have Knocked Her Down Before Car.

A pair of white shoes last night led to the identification of the body of the negro dismembered by two street cars on Eighteenth street between Pine street and Chouteau avenue, early Wednesday morning.
William Smith, 2007 Franklin avenue, identified the shoes as those of his wife, Mrs. Lydia Smith, 35 years old.

The police are looking for a white man who told Mrs. Ethel Brennecke, cashier of the Edison Hotel restaurant, 108 North Eighteenth street, shortly after Tuesday midnight, that he had knocked down a negro woman an who accosted him on the street.
Other persons say they saw a man knock a woman down at Eighteenth and Pine streets in front of a Park avenue car.

An open verdict was returned by the Coroner's jury.

The Farmer Receives More Than Five Thousand Dollars a Minute From Swift & Company

This amount is paid to the farmer for live stock, by Swift & Company alone, during the trading hours of every business day.

All this money is paid to the farmer through the open market in competition with large and small packers, shippers, speculators and dealers.

The farmer, feeder, or shipper receives every cent of this money ($300,000 an hour, nearly $2,000,000 a day, $11,500,000 a week) in cash, on the spot, as soon as the stock he has just sold is weighed up.

Some of the money paid to the farmer during a single day comes back to the company in a month from sale of products; much does not come back for sixty or ninety days or more. But the next day Swift & Company, to meet the demands made by its customers, must pay out another $2,000,000 or so, and at the present high price levels keeps over $250,000,000 continuously tied up in goods on the way to market and in bills owed to the company.

This gives an idea of the volume of the Swift & Company business, and the requirements of financing it. Only by doing a large business can this company turn live stock into meat and by-products at the lowest possible cost, prevent waste, operate refrigerator cars, distribute to retailers in all parts of the country—and be recompensed with a profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound—a profit too small to have any noticeable effect on the price of meat or live stock.

THE FREEDOM OF THE SEAS

WHAT IT MEANS IN AMERICA, ENGLAND AND FRANCE

There is a very interesting article in this week's LITERARY DIGEST—December 14th—bearing upon the most vital topic likely to be discussed at the great peace conference—the Freedom of the Seas.

While Lieutenant-Colonel Repington, the famous British Military Expert, remarks that "I have not the slightest idea what freedom of the seas means, nor have I met anyone who can tell me," London and French newspapers have quite definite ideas as to its meaning.

Much of the comment in the London and Paris papers emphasizes the fact that President Wilson has not yet defined what he means by freedom of the seas, but most of the French journals agree with the Paris Matin when it says "if this doctrine means any diminution of the power of the British navy, France will reject it."

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY (Publishers of the Famous NEW Standard Dictionary), NEW YORK

WAGE OFFER TO M'KINLEY MEN

The Illinois Traction System (McKinley line), which has been tied up by a strike since last Thursday night, has offered to settle wage demands with the trainmen on a scale parallel to that paid by the East St. Louis & Suburban Co., where the wages were fixed by the Federal War Labor Board. The scale amounts to 43, 45 and 47 cents an hour, while the men are asking 55 cents.

It is pointed out by the trainmen that the East St. Louis & Suburban is principally a city system, unlike the Illinois Traction System, and they say a fairer parallel could be found in the wage scale paid railroad trainmen. They also point out that they wanted the War Labor Board to pass on their case and were blocked by the company's objections.

TWO ST. LOUIS PHYSICIANS OUT OF GERMAN WAR CAMPS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Announcement was made today by the War Department of the names of 51 officers and 22 enlisted men released from a German prison camp at Villigen, who passed through Switzerland Nov. 23, on their way to France. Two St. Louisans, Capt. Arthur H. Sewing, 2249 St. Louis avenue, and Lieut. Henry L. Rothman, 1495 Stewart place, both of the Medical Reserve Corps, were included.

Capt. Sewing was named as missing in the casualty lists June 26. Later he was reported as prisoner at Camp Rastatt, Germany. He is 39 years old, a Washington University graduate and was for three years resident physician in the city hospital. Before his departure in April he married Miss Rachel Rees, of Seattle, Wash. Three sisters reside at the St. Louis avenue address. Before his capture he was attached to a British regiment.

Lieut. Henry Rothman was officially reported a prisoner Oct. 29, the dispatch stating that he was in a hospital at Treves. Formerly he was a practicing physician at Washington, Mo. He is 29 years old. He entered the service Aug. 5, 1917, at Camp Doniphan, Ok., and was sent overseas three months later.

How the perfect pancake formula was worked out

Years ago the Aunt Jemima people realized that when a woman mixes pancakes herself she could never be sure how they would turn out. Some days they might be good—but other days, when she thought she had done everything just the same—the cakes would turn out flat, tough and soggy.

To give every woman a way of making cakes that always come out wonderfully—always light and fluffy and tender—Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour was created.

The treasured recipe of a famous Southern cook was adopted as the basis of the formula. Long study was put in perfecting it. Especially ground and blended flours were used—flours that you could not buy in a store. And finally, since good pancakes need sweet milk, that was added, too (in powdered form).

No wonder Aunt Jemima Pancakes have such an unusually delicious flavor—no wonder 120 million Aunt Jemima breakfasts were served last year!

So quick and easy—and so nourishing
Aunt Jemima Pancakes have just the nutritious, wholesome elements that your family needs—Their gluten percentage is unusually high. They have the food value that gives youngsters strong bodies and plump, rosy cheeks.

Have Aunt Jemima Pancakes tomorrow—and some other day have the Buckwheat Cakes (Aunt Jemima Buckwheat Flour comes in the yellow package). Try waffles and muffins made with the Pancake Flour, too, they're delicious. Read on any Aunt Jemima box how to get the famous Rag Dolls. Aunt Jemima Mills Company, St. Joseph, Missouri.

Richer because of the milk that's in it!

Sweet milk, powdered and mixed in the flour gives Aunt Jemima Pancakes the flavor that has made them America's favorite breakfast. You need add nothing but water to have rich, full-flavored cakes.

Be a Red Cross Volunteer

This Is Your Privilege Saturday and Sunday
Do Not Let It Pass

Go to your Red Cross Precinct Headquarters, and give your name and one dollar to the registrar. A card will be left at your home, telling you where your Red Cross Precinct Headquarters are. They can easily be found by looking for the large Red Cross flag that will hang over the door of every precinct headquarters. If you are in doubt as to the exact location of your Red Cross Precinct Headquarters call Bell Olive 7060, or Kinloch Central 2017.

If there are several in one household, one may register for them all. It is not necessary that each should personally visit the Precinct Headquarters. The one who goes may carry the money (one dollar for each Volunteer) and the names of all.

What It Means to Volunteer

It means, that without waiting to be personally solicited, you volunteer your membership in the American Red Cross, and pay over the one dollar fee, which entitles you to such membership for the year of 1919. It means that you will be given a special Volunteer Badge signifying that you are a Red Cross volunteer. It means that you will do this necessary thing in the true American spirit. It means that you will always be just a little bit more proud of yourself and a little bit more glad of your part in bearing the burdens of the war, and assisting in the great work the Red Cross has before it.

Each person volunteering will receive a window Service Flag, a Volunteer Badge and a Red Cross button.

It is recognized that the American people have entered into the various war activities not grudgingly but gladly. When the necessity for fighting arose, Americans were eager to fight---witness our army and navy and their splendid achievements. When the necessity for financing the war arose Americans subscribed not grudgingly but gladly---witness the oversubscription of every Liberty Bond issue, and the millions poured out like water in support of the various relief organizations. And now that the time has come for the renewal of Red Cross memberships, it is felt that Americans will welcome an opportunity to swell the roster of this magnificent organization, not grudgingly but gladly---not upon personal solicitation but Voluntarily. And in recognition of this characteristic American spirit two days preceding the week of solicitation have been dedicated to this purpose and set apart as Red Cross Volunteer days.

Saturday and Sunday, December 14th and 15th, the two days preceding the annual Red Cross Christmas Roll Call Week have been decided upon as Volunteer Days. Don't neglect your opportunity.

This will be the only means of raising Red Cross funds this year. There will be no further appeals for money for this cause. The support of your membership is needed.

Will You Volunteer Your Membership?

BOYS TO BE SPENT ON GIFTS

Gen. Traub's Suggestion That the $18,000 Raised Be Used to Buy Soldiers Gifts Accepted.

Major-General Peter Traub, commander of the Thirty-fifth Division in France, yesterday sent word through a Paris bank that circumstances prevented the holding of a Christmas feast or other sort of a celebration for the several thousand St. Louis men in his division with the $18,000 sent by the Relatives' Auxiliary, St. Louis National Guard. He suggested, instead, that each St. Louis man be presented with a lasting gift, and his suggestion has been accepted by the auxiliary. The money was raised on a recent tag day.

The cable, which was from the Credit Lyonnais, Paris, to Harold Hall, assistant cashier of the Third National Bank, who acted as treasurer of the collection, follows: "Your telegram received 22d. Gen. Traub replies expressing deep appreciation of the generosity of St. Louis citizens, but regrets conditions render acceptance of the donation for a banquet at Christmas impossible. He recommends that a committee under his presidency, consisting of Col. Dwight Davis and Maj. Norman B. Comfort and Horace Runney, be authorized to purchase a lasting gift for each St. Louis man, typifying the appreciation of your citizens. He believes the men would greatly welcome such a lasting testimonial. Gen. Traub will take up the matter immediately if you authorize him."

Three units of the 142nd Infantry, the 158th Infantry, 125th Artillery and the 110th Ammunition Train, are composed principally of St. Louis men.

THREE MORE TRANSPORTS SAIL WITH MEN FROM FRANCE

They Have Twelfth Anti-Aircraft Battery, Medical Detachment Officers, Men and Civilians.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Three more transports, the Bultenroep, Amphion and Suwanee, have sailed from France with troops. The Bultenroep sailed on the 11th, with the Twelfth anti-aircraft battery, medical detachments and casuals totaling nine officers and 62 men. The Amphion sailed Dec. 8, with 125 civilians, and the Suwanee Dec. 11, with two officers, 111 men and five civilians.

The following additional units have been assigned for early return by Gen. Pershing:

One Hundred and Fifty-fourth, 11st, 174th, 174th and 573d aero squadrons; the Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth companies of the Fourth Regiment Air Service Mechanics, headquarters and Companies B, C, D and E, Twenty-ninth Engineer and various medical detachments and casuals of the Chemical Warfare Service. Included in the list are 87 officers and 2160 men.

DOCTOR AGREES TO PLEAD GUILTY AND BE FINED $200

Indicted for Getting Money Under False Pretenses and Working Confidence Game.

Dr. Samuel Harwood, who conducts a maternity home in East St. Louis, and who was indicted last September on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, kidnapping and working a confidence game, by agreement announced in Circuit Court at Belleville today, will plead guilty of obtaining money under false pretenses and be fined $200 and costs.

JOHN D. "SWEARS OFF" TAXES

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—John D. Rockefeller, it has been learned, has filed an affidavit "swearing off" half of the $10,000,000 personal property assessment levied on him by the New York Tax Commission. The affidavit asserted Rockefeller's personal property in the city does not exceed $5,000,000, but that he was willing to accept an assessment of $5,000,000, the figure which has stood for several years. The commissioners said they were compelled to accept Rockefeller's statement, as they have no way of inventorying his possessions.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Four-Minute Men.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

After their valued efforts in governmental campaigns and propaganda, it is a pity that the services of the Four-Minute Men will be discontinued at the end of the month. The men are enthusiastic and are becoming more competent in their work from week to week. It is proven that the picture shows and theaters are places at which prolific good can be had through personal and verbal contact with these volunteer speakers. Four-minute work in itself is an inspiration to the speaker. It develops him on current questions, teaches him to think on his feet and speak with fluency and without verbosity. I know, because I am doing some of this work myself.

Picture show patrons will always welcome a man with a message. Now, because the war is over is no reason why the man with a message must hold his peace; or that vital questions cannot be brought to public attention through an agency of this kind. There are many educational and philanthropic institutions which need such propaganda. These men might disseminate. Besides speaking at picture shows and theaters, they might also add schools, colleges and even churches to their lists. The work could be kept strictly nonpartisan and yet accomplish great results.

Under these circumstances, I suggest that the Four-Minute Men of the city form an organization among themselves and try to find the work most needed to be done and adopt means of doing it to best advantage. Washington University or Columbia of the schools of the State might well make use of the talents and efforts of these speakers. There are, no doubt, many of the men who may be glad to be relieved of the burden of the work, but there are others who might gladly continue along the lines outlined. Then there is always fresh material for activity of this kind. A feeler is here thrown out to some city organization to utilize this working force—subject to the consent of each member in a cause that can be of general benefit and in a manner suited to all conditions.

The Post-Dispatch is respectfully asked for suggestions and co-operation, though I am writing purely on my own initiative and without consulting any of the other Four-Minute Men. I feel, however, that the idea is such a good one, the most general publicity can only help it along and that my fellow workers in this splendid field will agree with me in the general proposition that much good can be accomplished in work such as is here presented.

Plant Memorial Trees.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We want to thank you very much for your editorial on "Live Oak and Hero Dead." We trust that anything that St. Louis does in the way of memorial may include the planting of memorial trees.

The Lincoln Highway Association has taken up this matter and is urging the planting of memorial trees along its highway from coast to coast, the planting to be with the co-operation of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

In Louisiana the plan is already underway for the Jefferson Highway which extends from New Orleans to Winnetka. Memorial tree planting has actually been done many places and we hope that you can urge it as the plan for St. Louis progress.

Trial of War Criminals.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In an editorial in Sunday's Post-Dispatch there is opposition to punishment of Germans who, during the war, were guilty of violation of international laws, and in violation of these laws, their best excuse was that it was military necessity. You refer to the liberality of the North at the end of Civil War, where you say no one was punished. The Confederate officer in charge of Andersonville prison was hung for treatment of prisoners. From many accounts there were prison camps in Germany where prisoners were treated worse than at Andersonville. During the first two years of the war, after a Belgian town was taken the notables of the town were arrested and held as hostages. They were told that their lives would be forfeited if any disorder arose in the town. Perhaps a drunken brawl was started after dark, and the hostages were marched out to a wall and shot. Germany by her treatment of prisoners, shooting of hostages, illegal submarine warfare, bombing of many towns, villages and hospitals, and introduction of poison gas in warfare, expected to spread such terror among her enemies that they would allow her to dictate a German peace. Germany never expected to be called to account for her misdeeds. She knew she was right. The higher-ups should suffer for the German policy of trying to terrorize the world.

W. M. WILSON, Morganfield, Ky.

SEEDS OF FUTURE WARS.

Lloyd George estimates the cost of the war to the allies at $120,000,000,000. The total staggers the imagination. It is twice as much visible wealth as Germany possessed when the war began.

"We propose to demand the whole cost of the war," says the British Premier, but "in such a way that it will not do more harm to the country that receives it than to the payer. The allies will put in their demands all together, and whatever they are they must come in front of the German war debt." The Premier insists upon the punishment of those who are responsible for the war and its crimes.

Blood lust and money lust are running high in the allied peoples. The cry for revenge and the uttermost farthing of the penalty of defeat is loud and insistent, more so in England than elsewhere, because an election is impending and all elements of the people must be satisfied by the politicians. It is high in other allied countries, but sane voices are heard here and there protesting against crushing penalties on the conquered.

It is agreed that the nations which started the war for conquest and lost it must make reparation for the damage they have wrought.

The Post-Dispatch has pointed out the barriers to working out any large scheme of criminal penalties under international law which will in any way meet our own principles of law and justice. One of our points is justified by the declaration of Holland's Premier that it will protect William Hohenzollern in the right of sanctuary which he has sought as a private citizen in exile.

As to reparations and indemnities, how heavy the penalties shall be and how they shall be apportioned touch the core of the settlement which we hope shall be the foundation of a just and enduring peace and a league of nations to enforce international justice and peace.

Shall our fair promise of political freedom for the oppressed people of the world, for which we poured out blood and treasure, be nullified by a crushing burden of penalties which will mean economic slavery and misery?

Germany's war cost will reach not less than $30,000,000,000. Austria and Turkey are impoverished. How much indemnity can Germany pay? The Government which started and conducted the war and the imperial system upon which it rested are gone. Alsace-Lorraine goes to France. It will pay nothing. Polish Germany joins that free and independent Poland which we promised to protect. Can we put burdens upon that infant nation of our making? What will be left of Germany when the German federation is established and how much can it pay without years of crushing burden?

Austria-Hungary has disintegrated. We cannot levy indemnity upon the Czechs Slovaks or the Jugo Slavs or the Italian provinces or any of the oppressed peoples whose freedom from the Austrian yoke we pledged. What will be the Austrian remnant and what can it pay and live? As well try to squeeze blood out of turnips as to get money from Turkey and Bulgaria.

Let us not forget that we were fighting imperial militarism and to end wars. We were fighting for the establishing of justice and liberty. We were striving to realize the large hope of mankind for a world federation through a league of nations, to secure international understanding, good will and co-operation for peace. How could a league of nations, charged with enforcing spoliation and economic slavery, keep the peace?

Shall we make our league of nations to enforce peace an armed collector of spoils for the victors?

Fortunately, the United States goes into the peace conference without the national resentments or greeds that make for war. We go into the international court of equity with clean hands, asking nothing but justice and a guarantee of international fair dealing.

As we search our own consciences, we must search the consciences of our associates. We must stand for justice tempered with mercy and good will. We must lift the fallen, help the weak and guide the blind. We must stand like a rock against revenges and lusts—spoliation of lands or wealth, oppression and slavery in any form.

If the results of the peace settlement do not work for justice and good will and co-operation among nations, our sacrifices to make war impossible have been futile. The victory we have won will sow the seeds of future wars.

The year 1918 was a bad one for the Wilhelms in the Hohenzollern and Hertz dynasties.

TEACHERS AS CAMPAIGN WORKERS.

Stephen M. Wagner of the Board of Education suggests that St. Louis' 5000 teachers and 100,000 pupils shall be utilized in effort to carry the proposed increased school tax and the twenty millions or more of improvement bonds, both to be voted for on the same day. "Every teacher," he is quoted as saying, "can at the same time be instructed to work for the improvement bond issue."

How far the teachers should engage in campaign effort for either the tax or the bonds is a question to be determined by notions as to good taste and public policy. It is just possible that teachers lobbying before the electorate for a tax giving them a raise in salary might not be more edifying than police lobbying before the Legislature for higher pay. Certainly a word of caution as to campaigning by teachers in behalf of any proposal at the polls cannot be amiss. If the teaching body may, without impropriety, be organized into a machine to influence a referendum vote, why may it not be organized without impropriety into a machine to support the election of some School Board candidate who represents a favored policy?

But however any part the teachers take voluntarily in the proposed referendum may be regarded, can there be any question about forcing them to campaign under orders? No teacher should be "instructed" to engage in the campaign. No coercion, direct or indirect, by superiors or by associates, should be used. Every teacher, instead of being "instructed" to work, should be free to act according to his or her individual judgment.

"WILSON GETS MY PARIS DINNER."

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspaper and periodicals on the questions of the day.

A VIGILANCE COMMITTEE OF THE WORLD.

John J. Chapman in the North American Review.

THE allies are today the trustees of the world. They have the confidence of the radicals of Europe and America, so far as the military part of the war goes. They are somewhat distrusted by the radicals of the world as far as reconstruction goes. No situation could be more advantageous than this to the cause of righteousness. Every act of the allies in every country of Europe will be scrutinized by the whole world's democracy; and any show of self-interest, partiality or doubtful dealing will be greeted by dangerous clamor from the Socialists and idealists of all countries. The allies know that the peace of the world depends upon their retaining the confidence of the world, and that every outcry against their administration is a menace to the peace of the world. They will not be able to act in the dark about anything for it is formal machinery, it is constitutions, by-laws, officialdom and formation which enables men to act in the dark. If, for instance, the Entente in dealing with Mesopotamia acts in a way that 'displeases the nonconformists of England, the man in Manchester will get a hearing on the subject. His criticisms will be heeded, because they will be a menace to the world's peace. That man's sense of justice must be conciliated or the whole Entente must be disrupted. The mere suspicion of self interest raised against one of the leading members of the Entente will excite danger everywhere. The smaller nations will be protected by the major power in the moral world.

In other words, the forces that make for altruism are today in the strongest position which they ever assume in human government. They are in the hands of a vigilance committee which has a popular mandate behind it.

IRELAND'S LOST OPPORTUNITY.

From the New York Commercial.

IRELAND and their descendants in America, the British colonies and England, Scotland and Wales did their bit in the winning of the war; but Ireland itself did not. North and south disputed and quarreled among themselves while others fought and died to save the world from Teutonic domination. This is unfortunate for Ireland.

Premier Lloyd George goes to the country with a Home Rule program that excludes the six northeastern counties of Ulster from the plan because the Irish committee failed to agree on any Home Rule measure applicable to the whole island. He intends to let the rest of Ireland try the experiment for a term of years, and this will not satisfy the south. America will not intervene to force Home Rule on the six Ulster counties and the American people will not get excited about the woes of people who profited by the war and failed to take their proper part in the struggle. It has been said that Ireland is flowing with milk, honey and discontent.

The war has put America out of touch with Ireland and this will be felt in the politics of both countries. If the Irish had followed their late leader, John Redmond, they would have earned a won victory for Home Rule, but they chose to hold back in the critical hour. Instead of following the example of their kinsmen in all other lands. It is now too late even to talk about it.

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH by Clarke McDoom

THE HOMERID.

WHEN Homer smote his blooming lyre
There were no prose thoughts to dispel;

The world had not yet taken fire
By everybody raising hell.
The eager poet put his pipe
And bade their choristers rehearse.
A time like this, the truth to tell,
Is not conducive unto verse.

Earth had its perils then as now,
But passed them into moods of peace;
There was no everlasting row
To call upon the world's police.

Together when he found his mood
One that the world's mood could increase
A hundredfold in solitude.
He did not venture the caprice
Of mankind all with war imbued.

There were no Balkans after Troy,
Nor Jugo-Slavs of seven kinds,
Each of a different alloy.
And each one of as many minds.
Earth had but that one tie which binds
Men's hearts in one immense bouquet.

Giving its fragrance to the winds
And sweetening the poet's lay,
Too many Trotskys and Lenins
For anything like that today.

WANTED: For delivery within the next six months. About two million American girls—mine run.

Opportunity for steady employment on 99-year lease.

Apply to any soldier or sailor at any port of debarkation.

Object, matrimony.

Port. John Doe and Serg. Yankee Doodle have examined all foreign offerings, and definitely decided to patronize local industries. It's not that they love French girls less, but you girls more.

How could you marry a girl who insisted on serving potatoes as a separate and distinct course?

Or one who loved you so much that she had no other interest in life? What intelligent woman could love any man that much?

So, young ladies, change yourselves in no wise. Cultivate the simpler manners of preparing ham and eggs. Be prepared to suffer in silence a lifetime of "War-time Recollections." Thank the Lord that there will be less night-work for the men and fewer sick friends. Take the best that your claims can conquer of the returning conquerors. Get his signature on the dotted line, and your days will be long and peaceful in the land.

One word more: Perhaps you can get his story in full on phonograph records, so that you can amuse the children while father is at work.

Also by pushing a button, father stands in less chance of going on record as the glorious liar that he will probably be.

THE SPARTACUSES.

THE Spartacuses or Spartacuses—
we like cusses better because they seem to be the same people who made a sort of political junkshop of Russia—get their name from Spartacus, whom we met in that old favorite, "Spartacus to the Gladiators."

The Spartacuses seem to have given his name to their party because he represented to them about all that anybody could do in the way of sticking out against authority. Spartacus did that.

Escaping from a school where he was being trained as a gladiator, he had for several years a career very much like that of Pancho Villa. It did not much matter to Spartacus who ruled in Rome, for he fought them all. Every long-haired man along the Mediterranean joined him in his fastnesses upon the slopes of Mt. Vesuvius, and there were times when the best generals of the empire had all they could do to hold him for downs. He called upon all the slaves, gladiators, socialists, Bolsheviks, workmen, sailors and other oppressed classes to join him, and his uprising was probably a sincere attempt to make the Roman empire safe for democracy. Some prejudice has been attached to his reputation because the Roman historians emphasized the lawlessness of his bands, which sometimes got out of hand. However, Spartacus was a democrat, an able and hard-hitting leader, and he was no barbarian. It took Crassus and Pompey together finally to put him out of action, and he fell in battle with men who had never trained as gladiators piled around him three deep. The extreme Socialists in Germany, whose leader is Dr. Liebknecht, find in his career an inspiration—as anybody would who has something of a cause and not much of a chance. He might as well have been the inspiration of Russia, for he was an all-the-way fellow and when he sat down in a political game the limit was the Italian sky. Neither Lenin nor Trotsky has the quality of Spartacus. Liebknecht hasn't it. All those people have is the same hair—not the same head. Spartacus would likely protest against the use of his name by the Spartacuses. He was probably misunderstood—about the surest way there is of becoming famous.

Speaking of signs, what do our experts in inscribed humor think of this from the title of Hearst's New York American?

Character Quality.

Isn't that good? We are afraid we have been a little too pro-German on Tuesday, so on Wednesday we run "The Star-Spangled Banner" on the editorial page. We manipulate the flag in such a way that it will sell papers, and yet we have character! Not if the dictionary knows it.

Czernin Tells How Germany Dominated Treaty Making With Russia and Rumania

Former Austrian Foreign Minister Says He Was Powerless to Make Separate Peace Because of Food Shortage.

By the Associated Press.

VIENNA, Tuesday, Dec. 10.—Count Czernin, the former Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister in issuing the substance of notes kept by him during the Brast-Litovsk negotiations, shows the exact status taken by the Central Powers and Russia at that time.

He says the Russians proposed a referendum for Poland after German forces had been withdrawn but that the Germans wanted a "plebiscite during occupation." Austrian mediation was unsuccessful up until Dec. 29, 1917, when negotiations were broken off, then meetings were resumed Jan. 6, 1918.

Leon Trotsky the Bolshevik Foreign Minister of Russia declared that he demanded that Russia cede to Germany the provinces of Livonia and Esthonia. The treaty with the Ukraine was signed after wearisome negotiations, he says.

It became clear that Russia could not by merely ceasing hostilities obtain peace. At this time Gen. Hoffmann of the German army advocated a cancellation of the armistice and an advance on Petrograd. Germany soon afterward did denounce the armistice, according to Count Czernin, but Austria-Hungary declared she would take no part in this action.

About Bucharest Treaty.

Count Czernin described the negotiations leading up to the treaty of Bucharest, in which he says Hungarian opposition to peace by compromise dominated because of conflicting claims between Germany and Hungary.

"Hungary wanted the frontiers so stated that a repetition of the invasion of 1916 would be prevented," Count Czernin says.

"This meant the ceding to Hungary of Rumania's valuable oil districts, which was not welcomed by the German military planners, with its interests to be promulgated by the German military planners. Germany's plan was to secure economic privileges which would amount to an indemnity. The plan was to force Rumania to cede to Germany her oil lands, railways, ports and state domains and to submit to permanent financial control.

"The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee was called to meet next Thursday to discuss McAdoo's letter and other phases of the general railroad subject.

Aside from the opposition voted by Senator Kellogg of Minnesota, Republican, on the floor of the Senate, many members, both Republicans and Democrats, are said to have expressed disapproval of McAdoo's proposal.

Kellogg charged that McAdoo really proposes a five-year test, looking to permanent Government ownership of the carriers, and added that of Government control is extended for five years it would be impossible to return the roads to private ownership.

Senator Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, declared that McAdoo's proposal was merely a personal opinion, probably of unusual weight, but not conclusive upon Congress, to which President Wilson has submitted the question.

Kellogg then asked how President Wilson's approval for the five-year extension had been obtained when the President in his address to Congress, had disclaimed having any judgment on handling the railroad question.

While the Senate was debating the subject, a number of industrial, commercial, financial and labor leaders and students of transportation problems discussed the formulation

An understanding was eventually reached as Bulgaria demanded the province of Dobruja, which would shut off access by Rumania to the port of Constanta. Under these conditions I resigned from office."

The Count said the Austrian drive for preliminary peace conditions with Russia contained the following points:

1. The cessation of hostilities. Should a general peace not be concluded, none of the signatories were to lend support to the enemies of the other contracting parties.

2. No territorial accessions. Poland, Courland and Livonia were to have the right of self-determination.

3. No indemnities for war expenditures or for damage caused by military operations.

4. Cessation of the trade war; indemnification of private losses incurred through economic warfare.

5. Temporary resumption of trade according to the old commercial treaty and a most favored nation clause for 20 years, not applying, however, to an eventual customs alliance between neighboring countries.

6. Mutual assistance for the purpose of obtaining raw material supplies and manufactured goods.

7. Agreement to be reached with Germany concerning the evacuation of occupied territory.

German Headquarters Ruled.

"German Headquarters, however," says Count Czernin, "declared decidedly that they would agree under circumstances to the evacuation of occupied territory before the conclusion of a general peace."

The Foreign Minister declared that he could exercise no pressure on Germany, from whom he had to "beg immediate food supplies, making the threat of a separate peace futile."

Count Czernin, however, asserts, announced that they would march on Petrograd if the Russians did not yield. Austria's proposal to invite Polish delegates was opposed by the German military authorities by the Ukrainians and by Trotsky.

No definite agreement with the Ukrainians was reached.

Ludendorff Ordered Speed.

Count Czernin, according to his statement, stated that the Imperial Government disapproved his policy towards Russia and Ukraine and agreed in theory to the negotiations of a separate peace if the German military authorities were assured that the negotiations were resumed."

"Von Kuehlmann (then German Secretary for Foreign Affairs) accepted me, but Trotsky stood out for territorial concessions and a dependent peace with Ukraine."

"At these negotiations Von Kuehlmann was compelled by German General Headquarters to act quickly. Ludendorff said the negotiations must be finished in three days."

COMMITTEE TAKES UP RAILROAD PROBLEM

Interstate Commerce Board of the House Begins Work Requested by President.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Congressional consideration of railroad legislation, requested by President Wilson in his address to Congress just before departing for the peace conference, was begun today with a meeting of the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

While the railroad problem has been discussed on the floor of both the Senate and the House, the meeting of the House committee today is the first formal action to be taken since the President made his request.

It is expected that the committee will consider the recommendation of Director-General McAdoo that Government control of the railroads be extended until Jan. 1, 1924.

The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee was called to meet next Thursday to discuss McAdoo's letter and other phases of the general railroad subject.

Aside from the opposition voted by Senator Kellogg of Minnesota, Republican, on the floor of the Senate, many members, both Republicans and Democrats, are said to have expressed disapproval of McAdoo's proposal.

Kellogg charged that McAdoo really proposes a five-year test, looking to permanent Government ownership of the carriers, and added that of Government control is extended for five years it would be impossible to return the roads to private ownership.

Senator Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, declared that McAdoo's proposal was merely a personal opinion, probably of unusual weight, but not conclusive upon Congress, to which President Wilson has submitted the question.

Kellogg then asked how President Wilson's approval for the five-year extension had been obtained when the President in his address to Congress, had disclaimed having any judgment on handling the railroad question.

While the Senate was debating the subject, a number of industrial, commercial, financial and labor leaders and students of transportation problems discussed the formulation of a policy toward the roads at a conference called by the United States Chamber of Commerce. The conference will continue today.

An effort to arrive at a basis of common principles accepted by all interests to be promulgated by public discussion. The discussions were secret.

Among the 30 attending the conference were: Paul M. Warburg, former member of the Federal Reserve Board; Harry A. Wheeler, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and R. G. Heth, former president; Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor; Winthrop M. Daniels, chairman Interstate Commerce Commission; Charles E. Elmquist, president National Association of Railway and Unity Commissioners; George A. Post, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's Railroad Committee; Prof. John R. Commons of University of Wisconsin; Charles P. Neill, representing the Railroad Administration's labor department; Prof. W. Z. Ripley of the University of Pennsylvania; S. E. Heberling, president of the Switchmen's Union; W. N. Doak, vice president of the Trainmen's Brotherhood; B. M. Jewell of the American Federation of Labor, and Prof. E. R. A. Selligman of Columbia University.

FORMER SOCIALIST EMPLOYE TESTIFIES AT BERGER TRIAL

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—When trial of Congressman-elect Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee and his co-defendants, accused of conspiracy to subvert the espionage act, was resumed today, Private Arnold Schmidt continued his testimony regarding his relations toward defeating the nation's war plans.

The soldier is now in the depot at Camp Grant, where he has been since Sept. 20, 1917, first as infantryman, later as artilleryman and finally in his present assignment.

Private Schiller is a Chicagoan who worked for months in the headquarters of the national Socialist party, and said he was of private secretary to Henry Basler, now in an internment camp, who is reputed to have admitted being a German secret service agent.

The soldier told of plans to install the anti-war spirit in soldiers in the front lines of an "underground railway to Mexico" for deserters of the operations of a "Conscientious Objectors' League," and of the existence of an organized conspiracy to oppose the conscription act and a code system for deserters of messages between the alien plotters.

"I did not know," said Charlotte, "how high the extent of her concern, and how much she was suffering."

"Of course, I am interested in the night."

HOW A GIRL MAY SUCCEED Beginning Humbly in THE DEPARTMENT STORES

By CHARLOTTE WHARTON AYRES.

FROM messenger girl to buyer! That's a pretty good jump, but not at all improbable nor even very difficult for the ambitious girl who enters a business life with the firm intention of making the most of her opportunities to get ahead and accomplish a place of responsibility in the store.

A department store is one of the most complicated mechanisms of modern day commerce," he observed. "And the greatest need we have today for trained workers who will stay with us after they have been thoroughly grounded in our way of doing things. And, because of that, we are most anxious to encourage any special ability they may display in any direction, and are constantly on the watch to discover the slightest trace of hidden talent in any of them."

I THINK they would be considerably surprised if they knew with what thoroughness we keep track of all they do—the way they live and everything about them," he continued. "We don't think of them collectively. Every individual is an entity by themselves, and are so considered in their relation to our business. We are constantly figuring on the possibility of certain one of them being what we call 'strong' enough for a pushup. We watch the way they look during the day to see whether they have self-respect enough to keep their personal appearance up to the standard of their mental equipment."

"We watch the courtesy they show the customers—the willingness and good temper they show toward their superiors in position. Every little thing is tabulated and when a need arises the one who measures up the best is given the first chance."

And then he told a story to illustrate the point that they practically live with one eye open in their duty to let not one single individual escape if they recognized the slightest sign of promising ability. He said they had had their official on a girl in a certain department who was a place of assistant buyer when she was promoted to head buyer. She was capable and energetic—not afraid to test her own opinions—and apparently having some reasonably good ideas on the subject of departmental equipment—but, there is often a "but" which interferes with the working hypothesis of a certain theory—she neglected other qualifications which are essential to the requirements of the proposed change, as those she possessed. She was untidy in her

The Home Dressmaker

—By MILDRED LODEWICK—

An Unusually Distinctive Misses' Frock.

WHEN one recalls the old-fashioned skirt which was very full and flaring, it sounds paradoxical to say that the slim silhouette has brought the accordion skirt back again. However, it is a fact. But these skirts of today are not as pleated as so to hang straight, and have only a very narrow width. The material is usually of a heavy substance, and pressed exceedingly tight so that the pleats do not fly out. Often, a tight foundation is hung underneath to ease the strain on the pleats.

For a young girl the skirt is especially becoming, and my design today exploits an attractive waist portion to complete it. Dark blue serge is suggested for the entire frock. The waist is cut on plain unfitted lines to drop to the hips. It turns back in cuff effect. Down the center front it is opened and slashed in an odd manner to give opportunity for a touch of white underneath, and several buttons on top. Black braid accents accompany them, repeating the effect of those up the backs of the sleeves. At the neck a narrow collar lends a youthful finish, and either the white of the chemise or the white of the dark blue serge, of which the cuffs also should be made. To finish the corners of the slashes on the waist, black silk arrows are worked there. The plain back of bodice is relieved by a 2½-inch box pleat. White blue is the most universally practical color and pretty for all sorts of wear, this design would be pretty in such colors as brown, dark green or red, the thin chemise being either of white, tan or gray. The effect is sure to be distinctive.

SANDMAN STORY FOR TONIGHT

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

How Jimmie Crow Was Scared.

MR. FOX and Jack Rabbit and Mr. Coon were all complaining one day about Jimmie Crow because he stole their corn.

"I would not mind giving him a few ears," said Jack Rabbit, who was always generous and willing to share any of his garden stuff with the other wood folks. "But he comes in and spoils everything. Even things he does not want he will destroy, and I think it is time something was done about it."

"So do I," said Mr. Fox. "I have been trying to scare him away with an old scarecrow I brought from Mr. Man's garden last year, but, mercy, Jimmy Crow just flies right on old Scarecrow's shoulder and caws and caws. It will take more than a scarecrow to get rid of this Jimmie Crow."

"I would not care if he would not steal all my cherries this year," said Mr. Coon. "I have taken a few things from Mr. Man in my time, but I never remember stealing any cherries, and I should like to scare away old Mr. Crow from my tree."

"He isn't afraid of a bell, because I put one in the tree, and, as Mr. Fox says, he is not a bit afraid of a scarecrow. He has seen too many of them in his day."

"If we can get Mr. Bear to help us," said Mr. Fox. "I have a scheme which may rid us of Jimmie Crow, but it will make Mr. Bear do all the work in catching Mr. Crow and he may not care to do it."

"Tell us what it is," said Mr. Coon. "Perhaps we can do something for Mr. Bear to pay him for his work if he will help us."

"My plan is this," said Mr. Fox, smiling as he thought of it. "Have Mr. Bear dress up like a scarecrow and stand in my field of corn one day and in your next and in Jack Rabbit's next. That is, if we need him three times, but I feel quite sure that Mr. Crow will not try a second scarecrow. I think one scare will fix him."

So off they all went to Mr. Bear's house and told him their scheme, and he said if they would get him a fine young pig from Mr. Man's farm he would help them out.

The next day they brought the pig and Mr. Bear set them dress him up and out and he went to Mr. Fox's garden and stood in the middle of it and waited.

PRETTY soon along came Mr. Crow. He looked about and hopped along the wall to make sure no one was in sight. "Just to prove how much I care about one of these breezy old scarecrows, I fly over and talk off his hat."

Mr. Bear had his hat pulled well down over his ears and Mr. Crow could not move it. "Naked it on, did you?" asked Mr. Crow, getting angry because he could not pull the hat. "Well, I will pick at his eyes and nose and spoil his face, and Mr. Fox will see when he comes home how much I care for his old scarecrow. Now, I'll pick you, too," said Jimmie Crow, and right at Mr. Bear's nose he flew, but before he had time to think, Mr. Bear lifted his big paw and grabbed Jimmie Crow by the neck and held him tight.

"Ca-w," said Jimmie, almost choked, and his little eyes popped right out of his head. "Pick my nose and eyes, will you?" growled Mr. Bear. "I'll teach you to steal corn. Not afraid of a scarecrow, hey? Well, you will find that the wood folks have scarecrows that are just what they are made for—to scare crows."

Then he gave Jimmie Crow a shake which made all his feathers ruffle. Then he gave him a bear hug which made Jimmie caw again and then he pulled out two tail feathers and told him to fly and keep flying for a long time. He really did not need to tell Jimmie to keep flying, though, for he was very glad to fly and get far away from there, for he had for once met his match and scarecrows were no longer the tame, harmless things he had thought them to be for so long.

Mr. Coon and Mr. Fox and Jack Rabbit thanked Mr. Bear, and Mr. Fox took the two feathers Mr. Bear had pulled from Jimmie's tail and nailed them over his door.

He really did not need to tell Jimmie to keep flying, though, for he was very glad to fly and get far away from there, for he had for once met his match and scarecrows were no longer the tame, harmless things he had thought them to be for so long.

But he did not return. Jimmie Crow went far away from there, where they did not have scarecrows that were alive.

MOTHER GOOSE FOR CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS

By HELEN ROWLAND.

SING a song of Christmas!
Pockets full o' pence.
Four-and-twenty gifts to buy—
And only ninety cents!

When the gifts are opened,
Hear the joyful cry:
(Four-and-twenty things to be Exchanged upon the sly!)

PERFECTLY MATED.

THERE was a man in our town,
And he was wondrous "wise."
He bought his wife a smoking set—
Oh, what a sweet surprise!

But, when she saw her Christmas gift,
She cast no cruel slurs—
But tripped right out and bought for HIM—
A set of sable furs!

HIS GIFTS TO HER.

Bobbie Shafto's on the sea,
Khaki leggings on his knee,
Bringing helmets home to me—
Darling Bobbie Shafto!
Bobbie Shafto, tall and fair,
Did his "shopping" over there.
But the gift beyond compare
Is just—Bobbie Shafto!

WHILE touring Tennessee in a motor car, Parker Welsh caught up with a lanky native who was ambling along the road.

The native, after some parleying, was persuaded to get into the machine.

"Which way are you going?" asked the tourist.

"To'd Clinton," the man replied. A little later in the conversation Welsh asked:

"Are you a married man?"
"Yassah, got six children."
"You don't look as old as that."
"Yassah. Goin' on 66."

"Well, well!"
"My wife ain't that ole, tho'."
"How old is your wife?"
"She's only about 55."

"Well, well!"
"Say, and she is some woman, too."

"Is that so?"
"Yassah. Say, that woman is the best hoe hand in Chilton County."—

Wasn't So Very Wrong.

FOOD REGULATOR MERRITT was discussing the high cost of living and other things, and remarked that the fluctuations come so fast it is impossible to keep an accurate line on prices. We are all in the same position as the small boy who,

said to his mother:

"Why do hats cost more than houses, mamma?"

"But they don't, dear. What made you think so?"

"Well, that sign says: 'Hats, $10 up,' and yesterday I saw a sign that said: 'Houses, $10 down.'—Los Angeles Times.

A DRAMATIC writer asked Louis Cline on Broadway, New York, what the George Broadhurst had selected for Mark Swan's new farce.

"Keep It to Yourself," replied Cline.

"Sure! I won't say a word about it," said the writer. "What is it?"

"Keep It to Yourself," Cline almost shouted.

And so on, ad lib.

TOO MANY CROOKS

A Story of Laughs and Thrills

By E. J. RATH,
Author of "Too Much Efficiency."

"I agree with you," And Bidwell made a notation. "Who?"

"I need a certain type of adventures."

"On woman," remarked Wright, adding and writing again. "I'll get a doll. Any more?"

"I wanted a swinder of some kind."

"Green goods?"

Charlotte exchanged glances with Bidwell, who nodded.

"They're vulgar beasts," said Wright, as he wrote it down. "I'll use my best, however. Perhaps I can get a swindler, a fraud, a scoundrel. If not, I'll try for the Wall."

Now about a good scratch-an?"

"There are no athletes in my plot," said Charlotte.

Bidwell laughed.

"I should have said a forger, Miss Wright. Could you use a forger?"

She thought a moment, then shook her head.

"No," he murmured. "South-west is at liberty. He's always been a preposterous character. I never mind. You have quite a lot now."

"Of course I may need one or two more as the play begins to take shape," said Charlotte. "But I suppose they could be obtained."

"Easily, Miss Browning."

Wright returned the note to his pocket and devoted himself to a frank but polite study of his hostess. Charlotte glanced at Bidwell.

She had reached another phase in the problem, but found it harassing to introduce it into the conversation.

There was something uncanny in the way that Wright sensed situations for her to come to the rescue because the silence had become painfully obvious.

"Would you care to discuss this?" he said.

"Thank you, I should," replied Charlotte, employing what she believed to be an excellent business phrase.

"A hundred dollars a day and expenses," remarked Mr. Wright casually.

Charlotte suppressed a start. It seemed like a great deal of money.

She remembered that she had never employed anybody before in her capacity; so perhaps, after all, it was not so exorbitant. She glanced at Bidwell.

He seemed to be swallowing something, but presently he added his head.

"That is your own fee, I suppose," said Charlotte. "But how about the crooks, I mean?"

"The expenses will cover them," answered Wright promptly.

"They will not want pay?"

"They will be taken care of, Miss Browning."

She did not know exactly what that meant, nor had she the least idea as to how high the expenses might run.

But money was an item that never concerned her, she decided not to worry herself about it.

"Of course, I shall also expect an interest in the royalties," added Charlotte.

A faint sense of dismay entered

Charlotte's soul, and she glanced sharply at Blackstone. He was staring at the ceiling. As for Wright, his self-possession and calm were complete. Charlotte had an uncomfortable feeling that she was getting an unexpected insight into the methods of high-class highwaymen.

"Isn't that unusual?" she asked.

"On the contrary, customary," replied Wright. "You see, in this matter I am more than your major-domo. I am, in a sense, your literary advisor. I might almost say I am a collaborator. Not only that, but in a very vital way my professional reputation is at stake in this matter. Inevitably it will become known among the people of my profession that I have been instrumental in the production of this play. I should be humiliated beyond measure and I should be subjected to actual pecuniary damage."

He spoke with an assurance that was annoying.

"But it will not fail," he added with a note of enthusiasm in his voice.

"On the contrary, it is destined to be a great dramatic success. As such, of course, it is only fitting that I should receive a fair share of the earnings."

At this point Charlotte succeeded in intercepting a glance from her attorney.

He nodded slowly. Only for an instant longer did she hesitate.

After all, she was not writing this play to make money; she had all she wanted, and what she did not have Erastus P. Browning did. She was writing it for art, for fame, for truth, for the education of the world. So did considerations could have no part in her plans.

"To what extent do you wish to share in the royalties?" she asked.

"Twenty-five per cent of the gross."

"Very well," she replied coldly, not having the least idea of what 25 per cent of the gross represented.

Wright drew some documents from his pocket and handed them to her.

"Suppose we sign up now," he suggested suavely. "You'll find them filled out correctly, I think."

Charlotte was speechless at the offer, but felt compelled to maintain her dignity. With a careless gesture she passed the contracts to Blackstone, who reviewed them with a rapid scrutiny.

"They are in the usual form," he said presently. "But, as your counsel, I should advise you to retain the motion-picture rights."

"Most certainly," said Charlotte with emphasis. "I intended to."

She glanced coldly at Bidwell.

"We'll not make a point of it," he said with a graceful wave of his hand. "I surrender them. There is something rather vulgar about pictures; I don't care for them personally. And, come to think of it, I hardly think I'd care to make money in that way."

"Some crook!" muttered Blackstone under his breath as he struck out the motion-picture clause.

Charlotte was furious, yet too proud to betray her anger. Also, she doubted the wisdom of a betrayal. Things were going so well in all other respects, that she did not propose to endanger her plans by a dispute over prospective revenues, so she exchanged signed contracts with Wright and tossed her own copy contemptuously on the table.

Apparently Wright interpreted this as a signal that the interview was closed, for he arose and prepared to take his departure.

"When will you be ready for your guests, Miss Browning?" he inquired.

"Immediately."

"Very good. I shall make all haste. Would it inconvenience you if one or two happened to drop in tomorrow?"

"I shall expect them."

"You put me on my mettle," he said. "I shall not fail you."

She could not avoid shaking hands with him, but there was no warmth in his grip. The glances seemed to have evaporated from this person, leaving him a common—no, an un-common—man.

"Under no circumstances should you inform your guests why they are here."

She looked puzzled.

"If they knew they were under observation they could not behave themselves in a natural manner," he explained. "As an artist you can appreciate that. They must be wholly at ease, otherwise they will register false impressions and conduct themselves in a stilted and artificial way."

"But," exclaimed Charlotte, "surely they must be given some reason for being here. How shall I explain?"

"Do not explain at all, Miss Browning. Greet them merely as your honored guests at a house-party. I will do all the explaining. I beg of you to leave that matter entirely in my hands, otherwise I cannot be responsible for the results."

He spoke with such an air of finality that Charlotte was content to nod a compliance. Besides, she was glad to be rid of the problem.

On the way through the library Wright paused once more before the Corot, surveyed it with a slight frown on his brow, shrugged his shoulders, and then he entered into the hall, where he received his hat, coat and cane from the butler. Blackstone followed him hastily.

CHAPTER IV. Introducing Sundry Genies.

IT was late afternoon when Charlotte, sitting in her favorite corner of the porch, where she did most of her writing, chanced to look up and beheld a singular figure sauntering along the driveway.

The man was short and wide, with a pronounced tendency to bowlegs. A week-old black beard covered his chin, and he rubbed it thoughtfully with an enormous hand as he paused for a moment and made a careful survey of the house. His eyes were as bright as shiny black buttons and blinked rapidly. For all his uncouth body, he was neatly dressed, save for a derby hat that was too large for his round head. He carried a small and rusty leather satchel.

Approaching closer to the house, he made a trip across the lawn to the farther corner, then back again, to a point opposite Charlotte. Incessantly he whistled some nondescript tune in a low key.

"Are you looking for somebody?"

BAD WEATHER IS BULLISH FACTOR IN CORN MARKET

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Unfavorable weather has a strengthening influence today on the corn market. The market is well supplied.

peratures throughout the winter wheat belt have forced the plant abnormally. Plowing and seeding for winter wheat is still progressing in scattered sections of the Southwest, with assured high prices being the attraction. Much wheat will be planted in winter wheat belts in spring. Producers of corn are inclined to hold for higher prices, partially as result of losses shown by final Government report."

Argentine shipments:

This Week	Last Week	Last Year
Wheat	1,105,000	1,044,000
Corn	1,105,000	775,000
Oats	44,000	77,000
Visible supply
Wheat	1,850,000	1,850,000
Corn	1,850,000	1,850,000

Daily primary movement:
Receipts:

PHOTOPLAY—Home-grown, 10¢/15c per bushel.

RUTABAGAS—Bulk, Canadian, 50c per 100 lbs.

SHALLOTS—Louisiana, 15¢/20c per 100 lbs. Home-grown green onions, 20c per dozen bunch.

SLIPFLOWER—New York crates, $1.15.

SWEET POTATOES—Home-grown berries, $1.15/1.30; yellow, $1.75/2.00; and red mandarin at $1.60/1.50 per bushel.

SAUERKRAUT—Quote city-make half-barrels at $5.50, barrels at $7.50, kegs at $1.50, and crates at $12.

Opening prices, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 1¢ higher, with January $1.36 1/2, to $1.95, and March $1.55, to $1.95, were followed by moderate general gains and then something of a slow decline.

Oats paralleled the action of corn. Renewed domestic shipping demand, however, was not sufficient to cause a sharp change to $c higher, with January 75 1/2c, to 76 1/2c, and March 76 1/2c, to 77 1/2c, and then underwent a slight decline.

Provisions had no market operated as a weight in provisions. Forecasts of immense meat shipments were current, though, and declines did not go far.

Good Old Multiple Negative.

A CORRESPONDENT writes to a newspaper that he was traveling in the interior of the State and stopped at a country cottage for a glass of milk. He offered to pay for his refreshment, but was answered thus: "I never make no practice of charging nobody nothing for milk." Which reminds us of the ancient tale of the Carolina mountaineer who said: "We ain't got no nothin' but corn pone an' bacon, an' that's what we ain't got no nothin' but." And of the still more ancient sentence in Shakespeare, "No, nor no woman, neither." And that in the good old Anglo-Saxon, doubling multiplying negatives, had merely an intensifying effect; that the rule about two negatives making an affirmative was a later importation from the Latin, and no English rule at all. Why can't we say "ain't got no" when we want to?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

How She Knew.

HARRY LEVEY of the Universal Theater in New York spent a day recently with his friend, Fred Seitz, who has a butcher shop at East Hampton, L. I. A small colored girl came in the shop and asked for a ham she had left there to be smoked. "I told you when you left it to come back in 30 days," said Seitz. "You're too early."

"No, I ain't," replied the girl. "I'm right on time, 'cause my pop got 30 days fer stealin' that ham the day I bring it here. He come out this mornin' and asked where it was."

Recognized Only One.

THE conversation in the lobby of a Washington hotel turned to the subject of signs when the following story was contributed by Congressman Edward H. Watson of New Hampshire.

An esteemed party named Pat established a livery stable in a rural New England town, and, wishing an appropriate sign, he had one painted that pictured a man riding a mule. Just after the sign was put up, Pat's friend, Mike, rambled along. "O' see," pleasantly remarked Mike, gazing at the new creation, "that yez have put up a foine sign. 'Yes,' responded Pat, with some show of pride. "Phwat do yez think av it?"

"Shure, an' O' loike it," replied Mike, with an expansive smile, "but who is the mon that's on yez back?" Philadelphia Telegraph.
